TARIFF REVISION GOES THRU' HOUSE AT 2 O'CLOCK TODAY

Final Vote on the Measure Last Night Was Blocked by a Republican Parliamentary Trick.

LAST HOURS OF DEBATE PACKED THE GALLERIES

Party Leaders Hurled Their Defies Across the Chamber. Speaker Clark Spoke Last Words for the Measure.

Washington, May 7.—After all of the fireworks preparatory to passage of the Underwood bill in the house had been set off, a republican parliamentary maneuver blocked progress by the democratic majority, and the house was forced to adjourn until tomorrow with the bill still pending.

When the valedictory speeches on the bill had been delivered and crowded floor and galleries were prepared for the final action, Republican Leader Mann replied to Majority Leader Underwood's opposition to a roll call on the republican amendment, proposing a tariff commission, by declaring he would demand the reading of the "enrolled bill."

It was impossible for the enrolling clerk to complete the enrollement of the bill before tomorrow afternoon, and, amid the dissatisfied mutterings of the members who had waited through the evening in the expectation of a final vote, Representative Underwood moved that the house adjourn until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when the vote on the bill will be taken.

Amended Income Tax Section.

In the closing hours of the session the ways and means committee amended the income tax section of the bill so as to exempt from its provisions the citizens of Porto Rico and the Philippines.

Party leaders, primed for the final political thrust of the tariff debate, hurled their defies across the chamber with alternating currents of applause reverberating through the chamber, the packed galleries frequently joining in the demonstration.

When the echoes of approving cheers had died away after the defeat of the last republican amendment, while the house was in the committee of the whole, Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, chairman of the cimmittee, turned the gavel ovr to Speaker Clark. Majority Leader Underwood then placed the bill before the house, and moved its passage. Debate on this motion was being hastened as rapidly as possible, with prospect of a roll call about midnight.

Prior to the vote on the last amendment, Minority Leader Mann, Majority Leader Underwood and Speaker Clark were given rousing ovations.

With an overwhelming democratic majority on hand to send the bill on its way to the senate, the session tonight was marked by an exuberant spirit to triumph on the democratic side of the center aisle. Every member who could possibly attend was in his place to hear the conclusion of the debate on the bill and to cast his vote. Although several democrats had announced their intention of voting against the bill, Majority Leader Underwood and his lieutenants had plenty of votes on hand to insure its passage, and the defeat of republican and progressive efforts to amend.

Great Crowds in Galleries.

As the end of the two weeks of political spellbinding and weary efforts to amend the bill that marked its progress through the house drew to a close, the expectation of a vote drew great throngs to the galleries of the house chamber. Early in the evening all o fthe seats were filled and the crowd had taken possession of the gallery aisles. After the gallery doors were closed the crowds continued trying in vain for a glimpse of the floor. The gowns and millinery of fashionable women lent color to the crowded galleries.

Down in the well of the house, Representative Underwood, flanked by his aides, democratic members of the ways and means comimttee, led the final movement of the two weeks' battle to pass his bill, dominating the actions of the democratic side and wearily watching the parliamentary evolutions of the opposition. A few feet away was the leader of the republicans, Representative Mann, of Illinois, with Representative Payne ,of New York, and Representative Fordney, of Michigan, the republican tariff experts, who for two weeks had maintained an unceasing fire of caustic criticisms and amendments, kept up their forlorn fight to change the provisions of the bill.

GAIN OF $250,000 IN CITY'S INCOME

"Atlanta Will Have a Nice Income to Fall Back Upon in June," Says Tax Commissioner Chas. W. Smith.

The city's increase in income available when the June apportionment is made up by the finance committee, will be $250,000.

Chairman Charles W. Smith, of the tax committee, has already been assured of $185,000, which will come from increased taxes on real and personal property. The water department will yield an increased income, and the various other departments will put a handsome balance in the treasury for the use of the finance committee.

A statement of the increase in real and personal assessments for the year shows $14,400,000. The increase at the end of 1912 was $19,000,000 over the previous year, and it is expected that the 1913 statement will show an even greater increase with the final addition which will be made in the fall.

Increase Will Be $250,000.

"The city will have a nice income to fall back on in June," Tax Chairman Smith said Wednesday. "I have secured some data from the tax assessors showing that up to the present time the income from real and personal assessments nearly reached $185,000. I feel sure, in view of the present showing, that the income from all sources will be $250,000.

Tax assessments on banks have increased $1,000,000 this year, according to an unofficial statement made in response to reports which have gained circulation around the city hall. The increase, it is said, is based on larger capital, surplus and undivided profits.

The increase is the largest ever imposed on Atlanta banks in one year. At the tax rate of $1.25 per $100, or .0125 per cent, the increase gives the city an additional increase of $12,500.

The increase in personalty assessments will exceed $3,500,000, and realty assessments, according to authentic sources, will exceed $11,500,000, bringing the grand total up to $15,000,000. If these estimates are correct the increases will net the city nearly $200,000 alone, and with the revenue from the other departments might bring the total amount to be distributed among the city departments up to $275,000.

Will Equalize Tax Rates.

Tax Chairman Smith told The Constitution that he was working out his plans for equalizing tax rates in Atlanta. He explained that he had asked for and had received a statement from the tax assessors, in order that he might start the committee right before making plans for the June budget.

Chairman Smith was recently appointed chairman of the committee by Mayor Woodward. He took the place vacated by Alderman John E. McClellan, who has been relieved of most of his committee assignments because of ill health.

In order that his other duties might not conflict with work on the tax committee, Councilman Smith has resigned from the claims, ordinance and library committees. Mayor Woodward believes that the tax equalization scheme will require most of Councilman Smith's time, and readily agreed to relieve him.

The tax assessors have increased assessments $50,000,000 within the past three years. They refused to agree to the revolutionary changes suggested by Alderman McClellan. The assessors, C. D. Meador, L. L. Harrison and J. N. Malone, say that the assessments on conspicuous real estate in the center of Atlanta have been increased in proportion with other sections. They don't believe that an increase just at this time can be made without being unjus-

WITH "MOTHER" JONES GOV. HATFIELD TALKS

Charleston, W. Va., May 7.—Mrs. Mary ("Mother") Jones and Governor Hatfield, of West Virginia, held an hour's conference at the state house here tonight. The aged labor leader, who has been a military prisoner since last February for alleged offenses committed against martial law in the coal strike district of Kanawha county, was brought here tonight at the instance of the governor.

After the conference tonight Mrs. Jones went to a hotel. She will confer with the governor again tomorrow.

ALASKA IS INJURED BY DELAY OF CONGRESS

Washington, May 7.—"Responsibility for the condition of Alaska rests squarely on the shoulders of congress and no place else," declared former Secretary of the Interior Fisher today before the senate territories committe. "The necessity for legislation to open up the territory has been pointed out time after time," continued Mr. Fisher, "but nothing whatever has been done.

"It seems to me," he said, "that no candid student of the situation in Alaska who is at all free from personal and pecuniary interest, can have the slightest doubt of the propriety of the federal government constructing one or more railroads to open up that territory."

Mr. Fisher declared himself in favor of government operation of the roads, at least as an experiment.

"There can be no development of Alaska," he concluded, "unless the government constructs a railroad from Tidewater to the interior. Private interests might build as far as the coal fields or the copper mines, but no further."

GAME COLUMBUS WON MAY BE THROWN OUT

Charleston, S. C., May 7.—The game which Columbus won from Charleston Tuesday by the score of 7 to 2 may be thrown out, as Manager Needham has wired President Corish that he protests the game on ruling made by Umpire Barr, who declared Ridgeway out when the latter had reached second and Hurley third, in the ninth inning, after Fox purposely allowed Ridgeway's high fly to drop safe. Fox was trying a trick play, but owing to a bad bounce of the ball it failed. No one was out at the time, and it was his intention to make a double play. Fox and the Columbus players rushed at the umpire and claimed an infield fly. Barr in confusion declared Ridgeway out, but allowed Hurley to remain on third. Both Manager Fox and Umpire Barr admitted today that the decision was wrong.

MRS. LONGSTREET LOSES HER OFFICE; MRS. HAM NAMED

Nomination of Mrs. Ham Also a Defeat for Editor Hardy, Who Was Backed by Congressman Tom Bell.

REJECTION OF HARDY OCCASIONS SURPRISE

Bell Will Try to Get Wilson to Reconsider—Hardy Was Strongly Opposed by E. T. Brown, of Atlanta.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, May 7.—(Special.)—Representative Thomas M. Bell's nomination of A. S. Hardy, editor of The Gainesville Eagle, to be postmaster at Gainesville, was today turned down and President Wilson sent in the name of Mrs. H. W. J. Ham, widow of "Snollygoster" Ham, to succeed Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet.

The rejection of Mr. Bell's nominee has caused the liveliest interest here, not only among Georgians in congress, but representatives from other states. They are all up in the air tonight and don't know what it means or where they will come out.

The question now is who is going to name postmasters, representatives in congress, senators, Postmaster General Burleson or the president?

In the list of 200 postmasters nominations sent in today by the president there were several which had not been chosen by the representatives who are presumed to have the selection.

Nobody is willing to talk as yet, as all hope to be able to get the postmaster general and the president to reconsider the action in the cases which they opposed. Whether Mr. Burleson or President Wilson is responsible for disregarding their wishes they are unwilling to venture a guess.

Bell to See Wilson.

Mr. Bell had an appointment with President Wilson for tomorrow morning to discuss the Gainesville office and the opposition to Mr. Hardy. He will still fill the engagement and declines to discuss the matter until he has talked with the president.

Representative Bell said he had the assurance of Senator Hoke Smith that he would offer no objection to Mr. Hardy, although the latter was not his supporter and did not support President Wilson in the pre-convention campaign. He went to Senator Smith today and was told by the latter that the nomination caused him great surprise, as he was not looking for it for several days.

Senator Smith would not discuss the nomination when asked about it by The Constitution's representative further than to say he was surprised.

While disclaiming any responsibility for the Hardy nomination, he said he had told Mr. Bell he would offer no objection to it.

"Will you refuse to let Mrs. Ham be confirmed?" he was asked.

"I would hesitate a long time before blocking one of President Wilson's nominations," replied Senator Smith.

Brown Opposed Hardy.

The first suggestion of antagonism to Mr. Hardy's nomination followed the visit here of Edward T. Brown, of Atlanta, and his frequent visits to the white house.

Mr. Brown formerly lived in Gainesville, and was a personal friend of Mrs. Wilson. He exerted himself to defeat Mr. Hardy, whom he claimed was a bitter partisan against Wilson.

Editorials and news articles appearing in The Gainesville Eagle were sent to the president.

Friends of Mr. Hardy said that although he was a strong Underwood man, he worked valiantly for the democratic nominees and kept the ninth district in line, just as he had worked to wrest it from the republicans four years ago.

Mrs. Longstreet Made Hard Fight.

Mrs. Longstreet has made a vigorous, relentless and widespread campaign to hold the position of postmaster.

Letters and telegrams have been sent to senators, democrats and republicans, and resolutions from Confederate Veterans camps have poured in upon congress in her behalf.

She has charged that a water power trust existed in Georgia which was attempting to oust her from office as revenge for her work in wrestling Tallulh falls from their control.

Representative Bell announces that he has nothing against Mrs. Longstreet or Mrs. Ham personally, but preferred a man for postmaster.

Mr. Bell has a brother in the Gainesville postoffice, but after considering all the applicants, chose Mr. Hardy for the place.

"I don't want to discuss the matter tonight," he said to me this evening. "Wait until I see the president tomorrow. I hope to be able to get him to reconsider his choice and believe he will after he understands the situation."

It was learned that Postmaster General Burleson's reports of the condition of the postoffice over which Mrs. Longstreet presided alleged that the office was poorly managed.

Four Georgia postmaster nominations were sent in today by the president. All but the Gainesville office were recommended by the representative from the district, the other three being in Representative Adamson's district. They were:

Gainesville, Mrs. H. W. J. Ham; Manchester, Ada Winslow; West Point, Mary P. Dixon; Woodbury, B. T. Baker.

Fight on White Plague.

Washington, May 7.—The question of whether medical science is getting the best results from the methods now employed in the fight against the "white plague" will form the keynote of the discussion of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which will convene here tomorrow for its ninth annual meeting. Physicians from all parts of the country arrived today to attend the sessions, which will continue for two days. The convention will be divided into sectional meetings, at which all phases of tuberculosis will be discussed.

The Shadow of a Coming Event

CHARGES OFFICER MADE APPROACHES

Mrs. N. P. Powell Secures an Order Restraining the Police From Carrying Out Threats.

Declaring that she had been given orders to vacate her home at 95 Spring street or be ejected by the police, and that such orders resulted from her refusal to accede to improper advances made to her by Kirke, a detective-policeman, or other employee of the city, Mrs. N. P. Powell secured from Judge George L. Bell, of superior court, yesterday an order temporarily restraining the city and the police from carrying out their alleged threats.

The case in which highly damaging claims are made against the police department was set for a hearing on May 10.

Mrs. Powell, in her suit filed by Attorneys Gober and Jackson, states that on January 15, 1913, Kirke, whose first name she says she does not know, but whom she claims is employed as a policeman or detective or in a similar capacity by the city, came to her house while her husband was away and made proposals to her which she rejected.

Claims She Has Been Slandered.

Upon this the man grew enraged, so the petition states, declared that he would have her arrested every night "until he could break her up." She also declares that Kirke is viciously disposed to her and that he has slandered and defamed her, and so poisoned the mind of Chief Beavers towards her that in April the order was issued for her to leave the place.

Mrs. Powell declares that her rent is paid and that there has been no complaint upon the part of neighbors and that she occupies the place as a dwelling and has endeavored to keep it orderly and respectable. Her attorneys also cite the federal constitution in protesting against her being deprived of her property without due process of law, and declare that to force her to leave the place would deprive her of the use of the house upon which she has paid rent and would also break up her home.

The suit further declares that Chief Beavers is threatening to eject her, and by the court's order there can be no move taken by the police or other authorities of the city until after the hearing, set for Saturday.

NO MORE INDIA OPIUM WILL BE SENT TO CHINA

London, May 7.—The government announces that no more opium will be sent from India to China this year. It says it is probable that the traffic in opium between India and China never will be renewed.

Sulzer Plans Compaign.

Albany, N. Y., May 7.—The legislature will be ordered to reconvene in extraordinary session on Wednesday, June 18, to consider primary and other legislation. Governor Sulzer so announced today at a conference called to map out plans for a campaign in favor of his state-wide direct nominations bill which was defeated at the regular session. A special committee of five men was named to select committees on ways and means, publicity, campaign, legislation and a general committee in each county of the state. The governor probably will open the campaign in Buffalo, May 19.

Boy Dies of Wound But Fails To Tell How He Was Hurt

Parents of Carl Bartlett Believe That He Received Fatal Injury at Hands of Another Youth.

Mystery surrounds the death of Carl Bartlett, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Bartlett, of Forest Park, who died yesterday morning at Wesley Memorial hospital while being operated upon for a fractured skull supposed to have been sustained about ten days ago. Until Tuesday the boy did not complain, although he must have been suffering from the injury for a week or more.

The parents say that they believe that he was struck in the head with a soda bottle by another boy April 26. All efforts to find the boy who struck him, however, have failed.

Dr. Frank Boland, who was called in to perform the operation, is not inclined to believe that teh blow was inflicted by a bottle.

Case Enveloped in Mystery.

"It did not look that way to me," he told a reporter for The Constitution shortly after the operation. "I do not understand at all how the base of the skull could have been fractured in the way that it was with a bottle.

"The whole case has an air of mystery. Of course there have been cases where a fractured skull would give no pain for several days, but it is most unusual, most unusual."

Tuesday the boy came down to the breakfast table complaining of a headache. As this was unusual, Dr. J. R. Barton, the family physician, was summoned. He pronounced it a fractured skull and had the boy sent to the hospital.

Injury Causes Death.

There were two wounds on the head, but both might have been inflicted at the same time. The skull was mashed in slightly at the top of the head and the base of the skull had been fractured. It was the latter injury which caused death.

The body was removed to the Hemperly undertaking establishment. The funeral will be conducted at the residence at 10 o'clock this morning. Interment will be at Forest Park cemetery.

The boy is survived by two brothers and three sisters, besides the father and mother.

TAMMANY'S FOE NAMED BY WILSON

John Purroy Mitchel, Opponent of Murphy, Nominated New York Collector—Suits O'Gorman and McAdoo.

Washington, May 7.—President Wilson went to the capitol today for the fourth time and after an hour of conference with a score of senators came away wearing a happy smile at having cleared up to his own satisfaction a number of troublesome situations that had arisen over appointments.

In New York and Kentucky factions of the democratic party for several weeks had carried their fights on appointment to the white house. By the nomination of John Purroy Mitchel to be collection of the port of New York the president satisfied Senator O'Gorman as well as anti-Tammany democrats here who lok upon Mr. Mitchel as an aggressive opponent of the Tammany organization.

In Kentucky the president stood by Senator Ollie James by appointing Ben Marshall to be collector of internal revenue for the seventh district of Kentucky. A vigorous contest had been waged by former Governor Beckham, who supported for the place Desha Breckinridge, of Lexington, a cousin of the assistant secretary of war, Henry C. Breckinridge. The selection of his choice brought keen satisfaction to Senator James.

The nomination of Gaylord M. Saltsgaber to be commissioner of pensions ended a long contest in which petitions and political pressure was exerted from many sides on the president.

Mitchel Independent Democrat.

Mr. Mitchel, named to succeed William Loeb, Jr., as collector of the port of New York, is an independent democrat and president of the board of aldermen of New York city.

This selection brought wat the white house termed "a happy solution" to a contest in which New York state leaders of every wing of the party had taken a lively part for the last two months.

Candidates for the post, which pays $12,000 and carries with it the appointment of an army of employees in the country's biggest custom house were numerous from the state. Recently the president practically determined to appoint Frank K. Polk, a friend of Secretary McAdoo, of the treasury department, but Senator O'Gorman interposed objection, declaring a more active democrat should get the place.

Break Was Feared.

For a time political circles expected a break between the administration and the New York senator. Within the last two days, however, friends of Mr. Mitchel, whose candidacy had been dropped at his own wish a month ago, renewed their efforts in his behalf and when the president went to the capitol today to talk with Senator O'Gorman about it, the New York senator himself suggested Mr. Mitchel as the best man for the position. The president was gratified to find that Mr. McAdoo, who originally had favored Mr. Mitchel, and Senator O'Gorman and himself were in agreement, and he promptly sent the name to the senate.

One of the reasons why Mr. Mitchel at first was said to be disinclined to have his candidacy advanced was on account of the approaching mayoralty contest nevt fall. Some of his friends declared tonight that Mr. Mitchel had by no means eliminated himself, and that the administration would not object if he resigned eventually to become a candidate for mayor of New York city. The president urged Mr.

STAINS OF BLOOD ON SHIRT FRESH, SAYS DR. SMITH

City Bacteriologist Makes His Report After Examination of Garment of Negro Which Was Found in Trash Barrel

LEE'S CELLMATE MAY TESTIFY AT INQUEST

Witness Spent 24 Hours in Same Cell With Phagan Prisoner — Body of Girl Exhumed for Second Time.

DAY'S DEVELOPMENTS IN PHAGAN MYSTERY

Dr. Claude Smith, city bacteriologist, completes examination of negro's blood-stained shirt, and finds that the blood stains are new.

Body of Mary Phagan was exhumed shortly after noon on Wednesday for the purpose of making a second examination.

Mrs. Mattie Smith, wife of one of the mechanics who were last men to leave pencil factory, tells detectives that shortly before 1 o'clock, when she left building, she saw strange negro near elevator.

Bill Bailey, negro convict who was placed in cell with Newt Lee for twenty-four hours, now at liberty, and will probably be called upon at inquest today to testify.

Leo Frank will be placed upon the stand again today at 9:30 o'clock, when the coroner's inquest is resumed.

Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey holds a long conference in cell with Newt Lee, but declines to tell what passed.

Detectives announce they are searching for a Greek, who is now believed to be in Alabama.

Chief Lanford declares that somebody is blocking Phagan investigation, silencing witnesses, and "planting" evidence.

The report of Dr. Claude A. Smith's analysis of the bloodstains on the shirt found in the home of Newt Lee, who is held in connection with the Mary Phagan murder, has been submitted to the detective department. It reveals that the stains were caused by human blood, not more than a month old.

The report is brief. The examination was thorough, but no comparison was made with the stains on the garment and with other stains. The only specimen possessed by Dr. Smith beside the shirt were small shavings, flecked with blood, which were chipped from the flooring at the spot near the machine, where the girl is supposed to have received her death blow.

chip were impossible because of the stain's dimness. Dr. Smith said to a reporter for The Constitution that he had not been given the bloody garments which Mary Phagan wore to use for the purpose of comparisons. The shirt has been returned to police headquarters. It will be used in the inquest today.

When the negro was confronted with the tell-tale garment Tuesday a week ago he admitted its ownership, but said he could not account for the blood spots. He had not worn it, he declared, for two years. He said it was not bloody when he discarded it in 1911, Lee said he knew no manner in which the stains could have been made.

Shirt Found In Trash Barrel.

The shirt was found by Detectives Scott and Black in the bottom of a barrel filled with trash, which stood in the back yard of Lee's home on Henry street. The sleuths never would tell the clew which led them to search for it.

Dr. Smith states that his inspection revealed the fact that the garment was not being worn when the stains were made. It had been used to mop up the blood, he said, and could not possibly have been worn at the time. He could not determine whether or not the blood was that of a white person or a negro.

He will probably be summoned to testify at the inquest.

Mary Phagan's body was exhumed shortly after noon Wednesday. Profound secrecy surrounds the action and it probably will not be known until the inquest today why the disinterment was made. Dr. H. F. Harris of the state board of health, was the only official at the graveside in the Marietta cemetery when the corpse was unearthed.

Body Exhumed For Last Time.

After an examination lasting two hours the body was again buried and, according to a responsible report, some organ removed and brought by Dr. Harris to Atlanta. When the body was replaced it was consigned forever to its last resting place. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Coleman, the dead girl's parents, objected so strenuously to further exhumations that it will never be removed again.

Until late at night Dr. Harris labored in his laboratory in the state capitol over the examination. He was reached by a reporter shortly after 10 o'clock.

"I am pledged to secrecy," he said. "It was under the condition that I make public nothing whatever pertaining to the examination that I was selected for the work. I cannot disclose the object of the analysis or its nature until allowed to do so by Solicitor Dorsey."

Solicitor Dorsey said about 9:30 o'clock that he was not prepared to talk of the exhumation. He admitted, however, requesting Coroner Donehoo and Dr. Harris to remove the body and make certain examinations which he expected to result in new and valuable evidence.

Reliable reports are to the effect that one motive of the disinterment was for the purpose of obtaining some hair from the victim's head with which to compare the strands found on the lathing machine in the pencil factory.

Another rumor is that a chart was made of the cuts and bruises on the face and body and that photographic plates were made of the finger prints on the throat.

No one outside the solicitor's staff, Dr. Hurt, Dr. Harris and Coroner Donehoo are aware of the motive for the exhumation. Even Chief Lanford and the Pinkerton men expressed their lack of knowledge. They have not been taken into the confidence of the officials supervising the mysterious move.

His Work Hampered Says Lanford.

Accusing mysterious forces of blocking his detectives, Chief Lanford said Wednesday that the work of investigation is being seriously hampered. In many instances, he declared, his men had been refused evidence which they sought, and had encountered a number of prospective witnesses, who refused to divulge the information it was believed they could give.

"I cannot account for the situation," he told a reporter for The Constitution. "We are being sorely handicapped. Not only are we being opposed, but, as has been shown many times, evidence is being planted. We have discovered numerous signs of "plants" in the past few days, and are not surprised at any "frame up."

The chief also hinted that arrests would probably result from the discoveries of planted evidence. A squad of men have been detailed to run down clues pointing to guilty persons. They are finding their task a baffling one.

Although he would say but little, Chief Beavers also hinted of efforts he had met to frustrate the work of the detective department. "It seems that we are being opposed," he said.

Lee's Cellmate May Testify.

Imprisoned for twenty-four hours in the same cell with Newt Lee, the nightwatchman suspect in the Mary Phagan mystery, Bill Bailey, an ex-convict, will probably be called to the stand in the coroner's inquest this morning to testify to certain admissions he is believed to have got from the negro.

Bailey is a negro youth, apparently 20 years old. He served eight years in the Fulton chaingang on a charge of shooting, during which time he was bunkmate of the suspected watchman. Lee was serving sentence at that time on a charge of gambling.

The negroes were intimate friends. Bailey is working with J. Mayo. Several days ago Mr. Mayo brought him to police headquarters and conferred with Chief Lanford on a plan to imprison the two ex-convicts. Monday night Bailey was sent to the Tower and locked in Lee's cell.

He was released twenty-four hours later. Chief Lanford nor any of his detectives will disclose the result of the scheme, but it is freely rumored around headquarters that the Bailey negro succeeded in obtaining valuable evidence, which he is expected to deliver at the inquest.

Did Negro Write Notes?

After minute examination of the mysterious notes found beside the body on the morning of discovery, A. M. Richardson, inspector of service with the Adams and Southern Express companies, told a reporter for The Constitution yesterday morning that he was fully convinced that the negro nightwatchman did not write them.

"They were written by a white man," he said, "and an educated man, at that. The letters are formed too expertly, and adhere too closely to the ruling of the paper on which they were written. In my opinion, they were written by the murderer, a shrewd man, with intention of reflecting guilt upon an illiterate negro."

Mr. Richardson has made a lifetime study of handwriting. He is thoroughly acquainted with detective methods and operations, and has taken decided interest in the Phagan mystery. Most of his investigation in the case has been concentrated upon the notes. He hopes to trace their origin by means of comparing suspected script under strong microscopic examination.

New Witnesses Summoned.

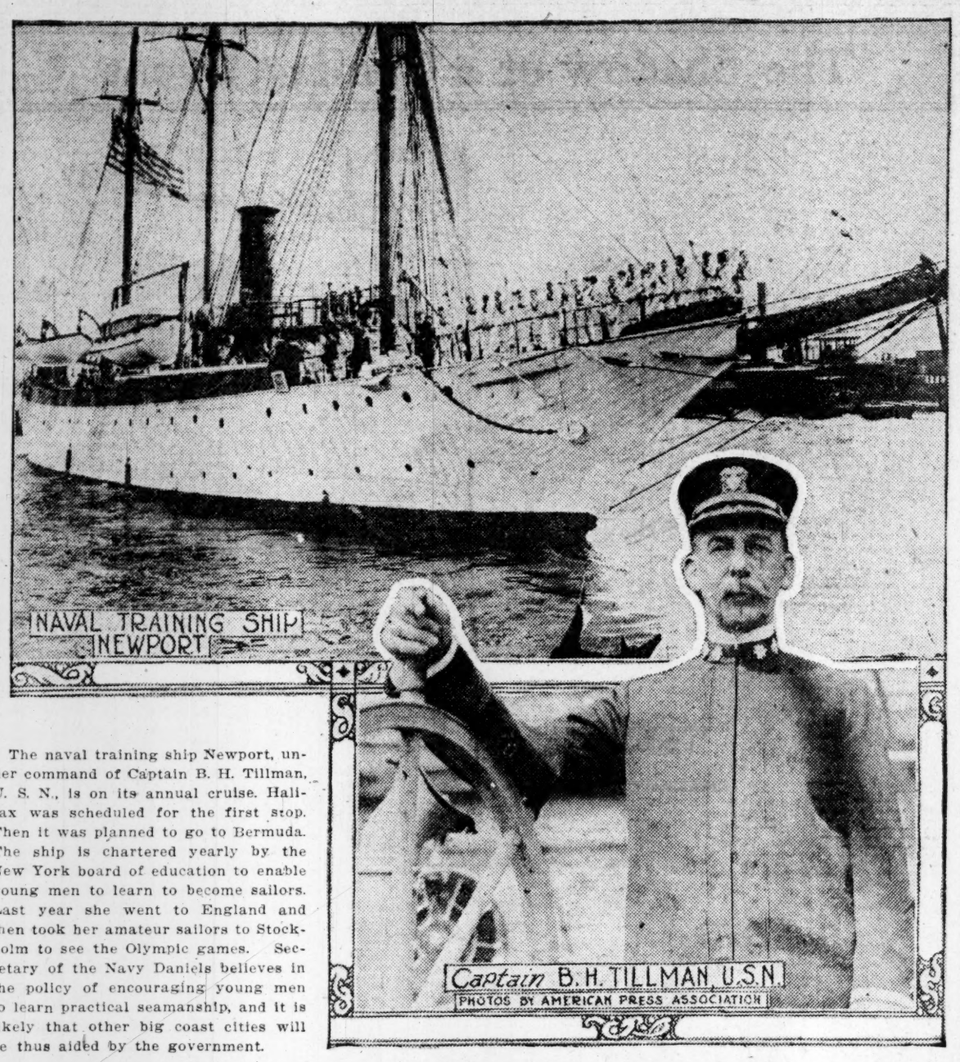
Another new witness summoned yesterday for the inquest this morning was Miss Grace Hicks, of 100 McDonough road, an intimate acquaintance of the murdered girl, and the woman who identified the body before it had been removed from the cellar of the pencil factory.

The sleuths will not disclose the character of the testimony she will be expected to render. She stated to reporters, however, that she held out little evidence, and that the last time she saw the girl of tragedy alive, was on the Monday preceding her death, when she left the pencil plant.

Miss Hicks was quizzed for an hour Wednesday morning in the office of Chief Lanford. She operated a tipping machine adjoining the machine operated by the Phagan girl. She came at 6 o'clock Sunday morning in answer to summons to the factory building. The moment the tragic face of the slain girl was revealed in the dim, flickering light of the watchman's lantern, she exclaimed:

"That's Mary Phagan—Oh, my God!" falling into a swoon in the arms of her brother-in-law, Boots Rogers.

Boys Tussle With Sea For Uncle Sam



The naval training ship Newport, under command of Captain B. H. Tillman, U. S. N., is on its annual cruise. Halifax was scheduled for the first stop. Then it was planned to go to Bermuda. The ship is chartered yearly by the New York board of education to enable young men to learn to become sailors. Last year she went to England and then took her amateur sailors to Stockholm to see the Olympic games. Secretary of the Navy Daniels believes in the policy of encouraging young men to learn practical seamanship, and it is likely that other big coast cities will be thus aided by the government.

Farmers Oppose Bill.

Austin, Texas, May 7.—Delegates representing five of the largest districts in Texas of the farmers' union meeting in conference here today adopted resolutions in opposition to the Underwood tariff bill, now pending in congress. Especial objection is ade to the schedules affecting the farmer, principally those relating to wool, hides, lumber and cotton.

Maine Is Far Ahead.

(Governor W. T. Haines, in Leslie's.)

We have 60,016 farms, an increase of 717 in ten years, with about the same average acreage—104.9 acres. This farm land, the buildings thereon, with farm machinery and domestic animals, is valued at $199,271,904, an increase over 1900 of 62.8 per cent. The average price of farm land rose from about $8 per acre in 1900 to nearly $14 in 1910. There has been a relative increase in values of farm machinery and live stock.

Comparing 1909 with 1899, we had 3,546 manufacturers established in the state, as against 2,878 with 79,955 wage-earners, as compared with 69,914, and 4,860 salaried employes as against 3,103, using a capital of $202,260,000, against $114,008,000 paying $43,429,000 in salaries and wages, against $28,782,000, and turning out a manufactured product valued at $176,029,000, as against $112,959,000.

TEACHERS TO TESTIFY IN THE HEETER CASE

Pittsburg Pa. May 7.—The 2,000 teachers in the Pittsburg public schools are to be asked to appear before a citizens' committee appointed by the board of education to investigate charges of alleged immorality against S. L. Hester, superinendent of the city's public school system.

This plan is advocated by Frank E. Freese, a member of the board, who states "he is anxious to effectually clear up at once alleged charges and rumors reflecting upon the superintendent in his relations with teachers."

At a mass meeting tonight under the auspices of the School Visitors' association resolutions were adopted, calling for the immediate removal of Superintendent Heeter. The legislature is petitioned to enact a law at the present session abolishing the appointive school board and restoring to the people the right to elect.

Walking Arm in Arm.

(From The New York Evening Sun.)

Another burning question has come up for solution! Paris and London are wrinkling their brows and looking thoughtful. And the important matter which demands their close attention is this: Shall a man and woman walk through our public thoroughfares arm in arm? Truly, a serious matter—one not to be treated too lightly!

When our grandmothers were young—perhaps in our mothers' youth, too—it was the custom for the timid, trustful female to lay a confiding little hand upon her escort's arm whenever she stirred abroad. She really didn't need her hands for anything other than to handle her commodious silk bag holding handkerchief—yes, and powder puff and mirror, too—hung by dainty ribbons from her arm.

Nowadays the custom is rapidly dying out. Women have too many other uses for their hands. There is the smart little hand bag to be held, the vainty case which the twentieth century woman carries so openly, the dog's leash, and, perhaps, a handful of Votes for Women leaflets. The woman of today can't spare one of her two busy hands to lay gently upon a strong masculine arm, unless she is drifting up a church aisle at a wedding or making slow dignified progress along the receiving line at a reception.

In London and Paris the walking arm in arm question may be one of propriety; here in America there seems to be little or no question about it: the custom as such seems to be dying a natural death. Not that men, even in these crowded subway days, are losing all ideas of chivalry. No, indeed, but instead of bowing low and graciously offering his arm, as in our grandmothers' days, when about to escort a fair lady for a walk, the masculine comrade of today walks calmly at her side without such a thought until the street crossing is reached, when he grasps her firmly by the elbow or upper arm and steers her safely on the other side. Seldom in these days do we see the old-fashioned "happy pairs" strolling down the avenue arm in arm, but when we do, doesn't one word pop into our heads and bring a smile of sympathy to our lips?

London may long for the lady of long ago timidity who prefers to walk with her hand on her escort's arm; Paris may disapprove of the custom except for father and daughter—or in the country—as they say; but Germany, judging from a recent picture of the kaiser's daughter Princess and her fiance is not troubled by the question at all. The lovers hold hands and walk arm in arm in public with utmost unconcern, just because they are lovers.

Why You Sink in Water.

(Outing.)

The non-swimmer, fearing the water, very naturally tenses his muscles as he struggles to keep his head above the water, until he is as hard as a rock, and like a rock he sinks. Whereas the swimmer, having no fear, relaxes his muscles, and hense becomes buoyant. The explanation is a simple physical one. Tense, taut muscles increase the specific gravity of the body and make it sink in water. Loose, relaxed muscles (given an ordinary supply of air in the lungs) will make the body float.

FRANK WILL TAKE STAND AT INQUEST

Mrs. Mattie White Tells Detectives That on Afternoon of Killing She Saw Negro in Factory.

Leo M. Frank will probably be the first witness to take the stand in the Mary Phagan murder inquest to be resumed this morning at 9:30 o'clock in police headquarters. He will be examined thoroughly along lines which neither the chief of detectives, coroner nor solicitor general will disclose.

He was resting comfortably at midnight, and, according to reports from the Tower in which he is imprisoned, he is in fit condition to undergo the ordeal. In the first interrogation to which he was subjected, he was on the stand for a trifle more than six hours. It is not thought that the examination today will last that long.

Headquarters was given a surprise yesterday afternoon with the report brought back by Detectives Rosser and Haslett, who were sent early in the afternoon to interview Mrs. Mattie White, wife of Arthur White, the mechanic who was in the pencil factory during the time Mary Phagan entered the building to draw her pay envelope.

Saw Negro in Factory.

Mrs. White stated that she went to the plant to see her husband shortly before 1 o'clock, and that as she came downstairs a few minutes later, she noticed a stalwart, black negro, sitting on a box on the first floor only a few feet from the elevator. He was seated in the shadow of the staircase, and was almost out of view.

This is the first time she has told of seeing the negro. It also is the first time it has been revealed that a negro was in the building between the hours of 12 noon and 4 o'clock, the fatal afternoon. Mrs. White told the sleuths that she did not recollect the incident at first.

Her statement was written and placed on record at headquarters. She will be summoned to the inquest. Her residence is at 58 Bonnie Brae avenue, where she has resided several years.

"The negro was a big man," she said to Haslett and Rosser, "and was apparently too well-dressed to be a workman. He was sitting on a box in the shadows of the stairway, and gazing intently at the elevator shaft; I thought nothing of his presence, and hurried on out of the building. I don't know whether or not I will be able to identify him. I possibly could, though."

Searching for Greek.

Detectives are searching for a young Greek, who is supposed to have disappeared the day the body was discovered. He was an attache of the cafe adjoining the pencil factory, a popular establishment with girl employees of the plant, at which many of whom ate their lunches.

Chief Lanford stated that when city detectives, following clues they had obtained from girls of the factory, sought to interview him, they found him missing. Later, it was reported that he was in Anniston, Ala., in which city Pinkerton men are making a search. He was employed as a waiter at the cafe, and had been in America for a good many years. The officers will not give his name.

The theory, on which suspicion is directed toward the Greek, is that the girl was murdered on the outside of the factory building, probably in the alley way facing Madison avenue, and that her body was carried into the basement through the rear door which was broken open.

The bursting of the door would have been an easy matter, as the staple could have been taken out, the detectives say, with the fingers.

It is advanced, too, that the slayer was in love with his victim, and that the deed was inspired by insane jealousy.

Added energy was injected into the search for the missing Greek at dusk Wednesday, when W. T. Hunter, a youth living at 250 Grant street, came to police headquarters and told Chief Lanford a story of a scene he had witnessed at 3:30 o'clock on the Sunday morning the body was found.

Hunter told of the appearance of three Greeks in a club at Broad and Hunter streets at 8:30 o'clock the Sunday morning of the discovery. One of the trio, he said, carried a mysterious package under his arm, obviously containing clothing. All three, upon entering the club, went into the washroom, where they cleaned their faces and hands. Detectives have been detailed to look for the three Greeks answering Hunter's descriptions.

Dorsey Talks With Lee.

Solicitor General Dorsey held a lengthy interview with Newt Lee in the Tower Wednesday afternoon. It was the first opportunity he had gained to talk with the suspect. He would not divulge the result nor tell of the lines along which the negro was quizzed. Immediately after leaving the jail, Mr. Dorsey hurried away in an automobile.

The negro watchman, Chief Lanford says, will also go on the stand today. It will be his second examination. He will be questioned more closely regarding his private interview held with him by Frank Tuesday, a week ago, when both were allowed to talk in the privacy of the negro's cell.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL WANTED FOR TOBACCO

Louisville, Ky., May 7.—Tobacco growers of eight states, at a meeting here tonight, indorsed a plan looking to government control of the purchase, sale, manufacture and handling of tobacco.

A bill indorsed by the growers and to be presented by Representative Glass, of Virginia, at the next session of congress provides for the immediate creation of a bureau of tobacco industry, subordinate to the treasury department, empowered to purchase the equipment and plant of any persons or corporations now engaged in the purchase, handling, manufacture or sale of tobacco. After July 1, 1916, the bill states it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation" to engage in these branches of the industry except "as the duly appointed agents or officers of the United States government." A fine of $1,000 and imprisonment for from one to ten years is provided for violators of this provision.

The meeting today was called by officers of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of Kentucky to perfect a national selling system. This matter was referred to a committee which will report to the unions of the various states. States represented at today's meeting were Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, Texas, Missouri, Kentucky, Nebraska and Georgia.

EIGHT CHAMPIONSHIPS IN BOXING TOURNAMENT

Not a New Orleans Boxer Won a Prize in the Boston Tournament.

Boston, May 7.—National amateur boxing championships in eight events were decided in the annual title tournament which was finished tonight. Two champions renewed their honors. Of the eight titles, four were captured by Greater Boston boys, two went to New Yorkers and another to Pawtucket, R. I. Only one championship was taken to Canada and half a dozen New Orleans boxers returned home without a prize.

The national champions are:

108-pound; Barney Snyder, Boston.

115-pound: Thomas L. Regan, Boston, present champion.

125-pound: W. Hutchen, Toronto.

135-pound: M. J. Crowley, Malden.

145-pound: Charles Askins, Boston, present champion.

158-pound: William Barrett, New York.

175-pound: Joe Brown, Pawtucket, R. I.

Heavyweight class: Alfred L. Reich, New York.

Final honors in the latter class went to Reich by default, after he had convincingly demonstrated his prowess in the semi-finals against Robert McEachern, a Boston police officer. Reich, regarded as of "white hope" caliber, was to have met William F. May, a sailor, in the final, but May, who had been defeated in the 175-pound class, had injured his hand in winning his semi-final in the heavyweight class, and defaulted the final.

Of the Canadian titleholders, Henry Godwin, of Toronto, was eliminated in the 115-pound class semi-finals by Regan, the national champion.

CASES AGAINST DEBS HAVE BEEN DISMISSED

Fort Scott, Kan., May 7.—Federal cases against Eugene V. Debs, formerly socialist candidate for president, and J. C. Sheppard and Fred Warren, publisher of a socialist newspaper at Girard, Kan., charging attempt to obstruct justice, were dismissed in the federal court here today upon instructions from the attorney general. This ends several months of litigation which resulted from a government charge of misuse of the mails brought against those connected with the Girard paper.

Debs, Sheppard and Warren were indicted last November by the federal grand jury. Th offense charged was "obstruction of ustice by inducing wit-"obstruction of justice by inducing wit-alleged to have been committed in connection with the case of J. A. Wayland, owner of the Girard paper; City Editor Phifer and Fred Warren, charged in a federal indictment in May, 1912, with misuse of the mails in posting obscene matter concerning the federal prisoner at Leavenworth. The government's case against Debs, Warren and Sheppard was based largely upon testimony of J. P. McDonough, of Kansas City, formerly a prisoner at Leavenworth penitentiary, who said the defendants paid him $200 to go to California and not to testify in the case charging misuse of the mails.

J. A. Wayland committed suicide last fall.

POSTMASTER HARRIS DIES ON THE MOHAWK

New York, May 7.—Wilmot L. Harris, postmaster of Charleston, S. C., died on the steamship Mohawk, of the Clyde Line, en route from Charleston to this port. He was on his way here to consult a specialist.

News of his death was made known when the Mohawk docked today. Mr. Harris had been a sufferer from diabetes, but the immediate cause of his death was pneumonia, which developed during the voyage. The body will be taken home by his brother, Glenn Harris, who accompanied him on the trip.

Mr. Harris was born forty-six years ago in Lewiston, N. Y. For several years he was connected with the pension department at Washington and later went to Charleston as special pension examiner. He had been postmaster of Charlestion for twelve years. He leaves a widow and four children.

SOCIALIST CAMPAIGN FACED BY LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., May 7.—Although Job Harriman, their standard-bearer, was defeated by 784 votes for a place on the election ballot, fifteen other socialists qualified in yesterday's primary, which assures another warm campaign between now and June 3—the date of the city election—between socialists and anti-socialists. Charles O. Morgan, socialist candidate for city attorney, won a place on the final ballot, as did six out of seven socialist candidates for the board of education and eight out of nine candidates for the council.

John Shenk, the "municipal conference" candidate for mayor, who had a long lead over his opponents, lacked more than 7,000 votes of a majority, which would have meant his election yesterday. Police Judge H. H. Rose, who will oppose him in the election, ran more than 15,000 votes behind Shenk. The complete unofficial count gave Shenk 36,381, Rose 21,137, Harriman 20,353.

WOMEN USE BOMB ON A CATHEDRAL

Attempt to Wreck St. Paul's in London—Bomb Found Under Chair by the Throne of the Bishop.

London, May 7.—An attempt to wreck the ancient St. Paul's cathedral by a bomb early today is attributed to militant suffragettes. The verger who conducts sightseers through the massive edifice was making his rounds at about 8 o'clock this morning when he heard a ticking sound near the high altar. Upon investigation he found hidden a heavy parcel. He immediately placed it in water and handed it over to the police, who found a suffragette newspaper wrapped up with the bomb.

This attempt and the placing of two other bombs in other parts of the city this morning made it appear that militant suffragettes had entered anew on their havoc-working campaign as a sequel to the defeat of the woman suffrage bill in the house of commons last night.

More Bombs Found.

Shortly after the discovery at the cathedral the police found a simiar bomb-like package on the steps of a newspaper office in Fleet street and a tin canister believed to contain explosives was picked up on the steps of a wholesale drug establishment near St. Paul's.

No arrests were made. It is doubtful whether the police have clews to the identity of the bomb placers.

The bomb from the cathedral was examined by the police and government experts. It was painted black and contained two detonators attached to an electric battery. It was filled with slugs of a substance resembling coal. There is no doubt, the police say, that it was placed by militant suffragettes or persans in their employ.

The general public is admitted to the choir and aisles of St. Paul's cathedral between 11 o'clock in the morning and 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The cathedral was closed entirely at 6 o'clock last evening and it appears certain that the bomb was deposited before that hour. It was found beneath a chair beside the bishop's throne at the head of the choir.

Ticking Not Heard.

The dean conducted the song service near the bishop's throne last evening, but neither he nor the verger then noticed the package or heard the ticking.

Plain clothes policemen have been on duty in St. Paul's for several weeks for the express purpose of preventing militant suffragette outbreaks, but they observed nothing wrong last night.

Several parts of the cathedral, usually opened to the public, were closed today.

Suffragette "arson squads" were also busy early this morning. They burned down a pavilion on the Cricket field at Bishop park, Fulham, in the west end of London, and set fire to an unoccupied house at Finchley, in the north of London. Suffragette placards and quantities of chemicals were found in the vicinity of both fires.

"Small, but fiendishly powerful," is the police officers' description of the bomb. When it was taken to pieces it was discovered that it was timed to explode at midnight, but a derangement of the clockwork restared the explosion. Apparently only this accident prevented untold damage to the cathedral.

TWO LARGE STILLS FOUND IN GWINNETT

Athens, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—That the lair of the illicit distillery is coming southward and the center of moonshining getting away from the hill country is evidenced by the fact that a deputy marshal has been stationed regularly at Athens, the center of old, aristocratic, cultured civilization in Georgia, and has found enough to keep him, and usually a helper or two, busy within a few miles of this city. Marshals Bursell and Brown came in from Gwinnette yesterday, where, in Ben Smith's district, two stills were captured Sunday morning just at the hour for 11 o'clock services, in broad daylight, in an old, thickly settled part of the county.

The officers stated that they found at one still no fewer than eleven persons from 11 years to 55 years of age. Fathers and sons were in the bunch of Smallwoods and McDaniels surprised at the moonshine factory.

In the past few weeks there have been more stills captured in Elbert, Walton, Gwinnett and Clarke than in several years put together before.

WOMAN IS ARRESTED FOR "WHITE SLAVERY"

Denver, Colo., May 7.—Rose Hart, alleged leader of a "white slave" gang, and Alexander Rossi, accused as the head of a "black hand" band operating in Denver, was arrested at midnight by Sheriff D. M. Sullivan. During incidental fighting the officer was severely beaten.

Sheriff Sullivan arrested the Hart woman on orders from the grand jury investigating alleged police graft and vice conditions in Denver county. A crowd insisted that the sheriff release the woman. After Sullivan had fought for half an hour against the crowd a man struck him over the eye with a pair of brass knuckles. Sheriff Sullivan, releasing his hold on the Hart woman, turned upon his latest assailant. Instantly a man's arm encircled his neck and the woman disappeared.

Sheriff Sullivan, with the aid of several police officers, then arrested Rossi in front of a hotel a block away. The Hart woman went to the city police station, where she told her story to Chief of Police O'Neill, who released her without bond.

Chief O'Neill dismissed the driver of the patrol wagon who had obeyed the order of Sheriff Sullivan and taken Rossi to the county jail.

ALFONSO IS WELCOMED BY PEOPLE OF PARIS

Paris, May 7.—King Alfonso, of Spain, reached Paris this morning with Premier Count Alyere de Romanones for a two-day offcial visit. It is popularly regarded as a political event of the first importance, there being a general impression among the people that Spain is to become the ally of France.

President Raymond Poincare and Premier Louis Barthou, with the remainder of the cabinet, received the royal party at the station. The king and the president talked with animation, while driving through the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne and the Champs Elysees to the king's temporary residence at the Palais d'Orsay.

Twenty-five thousand troops, including infantry and cavalry, lined the route and artiliery salutes were fired in honor of the Spanish monarch.

An immense crowd which had gathered to await the king greeted him with loud cheering.

According to reports from the provinces, there were no demonstrations during the king's journey from the frontier to Paris. Seven arrests, however, were made of men who cheered for the Spanish anarchist, Ferrera, who was shot at Mont Juich fortress in 1909.

STRICKEN BY A PANIC SCHOOL CHILDREN FLEE

New Orleans, May 7.—Several hundred panic-stricken school children fled from the Amesville school building today in a blinding rainstorm when lightning struck an oil tank belonging to the Texas Oil company and set fire to the more than 2,000,000 gallons of crude oil which it contained.

There was no explosion, but the flames burst forth in an instant and enormous volumes of black smoke ascended to a height of more than a thousand feet.

A half-dozen other large oil tanks near by were endangered by the heat.

The fire started at 10:45 o'clock and at 3 o'clock was burning fiercely. A levee was huriedly constructed around the burning tank to prevent the fire spreading in event the tank should collapse.

CARNEGIE ATTACKED BY A SUFFRAGETTE

London, May 7.—Miss Mae Scott-Troy, a San Francisco suffragette, cabled today to Andrew Carnegie as follows:

"What right have you to pose as an American citizen when you are registered as a voter in the parish of Dornoch, in the county of Sutherland, Scotland? You are voter No. 11 on the official list received by me today from the sheriff of the county. Why did King Edward offer you a dukedom?"

Mr. Carnegie is described on the voting list as "O gentleman. Place of abode, Skibo castle."

New York, May 7.—"Mr. Carnegie is an American citizen," said James Bertram, his private secretary, today. He became so without naturalization because he came here when he was 11 years of age, and his father was naturalized before he became of age. If he is registered as a voter in Scotland he had nothing to do with it personally. He is a property owner there and his name probably appears on their registry list in connection with that fact. He could not vote in that country because he is an alien there."

MORTUARY

Mrs. C. B. Cooper.

Mrs. C. B. Hooper, aged 65, died last night at a local sanitarium after a short illness. Her body was removed to Poole's chapel awaiting funeral arrangements.

Why is the soda cracker today such a universal food?

People ate soda crackers in the old days, it is true—but they bought them from a barrel or box and took them home in a paper bag, their crispness and flavor all gone.

Uneeda Biscuit—soda crackers better than any ever made before—made in the greatest bakeries in the world—baked to perfection—packed to perfection—kept to perfection until you take them, oven-fresh and crisp, from their protecting package. Five cents.

"Human Fly" Scales Capitol Dome To Put Hat on Statue of Liberty

Washington, May 7.—Rodman Law, who calls himself the "human fly," created considerable excitement at the capitol today while both houses of congress were in session by scaling the dome to place his hat on the Statue of Liberty. He had gotten as far as the base of the statue when a capitol policeman spied him and persuaded him to come down. Upon his promise not to attempt the feat again Law was released.

DR. H. L. SMITH HEADS WASHINGTON AND LEE

Lexington, Va., May 7.—In the presence of a distinguished gathering of educators Dr. Henry Louis Smith was formally inducted into office today as president of Washington and Lee university. The mission of the American college tomorrow formed the theme of Dr. Smith's inaugural address.

The exercises were held in Lee Memorial chapel at 11 o'clock this morning. A procession formed at Carnegie library and marched to the chapel, headed by Dr. Smith and Dr. Givens B. Strickler, the rector, of Richmond, Va. They were followed by the board of trustees, representatives of various colleges, visitors, alumni, faculty and students.

Dr. Strickler presided over the exercises and the invocation was delivered by Rev. William M. Morrison, African missionary. The opening address was made by Dr. George H. Denny, former president of the college. Dr. Strickler then delivered the charge and turned over the keys to Dr. Smith, who followed with his inaugural address.

"If the American college is to repeat in the twentieth century the inestimable service it rendered to American civilization in the nineteenth century," declared Dr. Smith in his address, "it must recognize the dawn of a new era, bring this period of turmoil and readjustment to a close before its place is usurped or its virility weakened and reshape its aim and function to the needs and the call of a new social and civic order.

"The master word of the eighteenth century was liberty," he continued. "Of the nineteenth, knowledge. The master of the twentieth blends both into a richer and nobler ideal. It is citizenship, the keynote of a new era, in which human duties and the rights of others shall take precedence of individual liberty and the power of knowledge and the gains of research shall be dedicated to the common good."

Americans Presented.

London, May 7.—The king and queen held court at Buckingham palace this evening. The Americans presented were Adrian Iselin and Miss Louise Iselin, Mrs. Charles Edward Greenough and Miss Helen Marie Stuart, all of New York, and Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, the writer, of Connecticut. Mrs. Wilcox said afterwards that she was greatly impressed by the splendor and elegance of the assemblage and particularly by the great preponderance of youthful and beautiful women.

Nashville, Tenn., May 7.—Pitcher Cy Dahlgreen, secured sometime ago from the Cincinnati Reds, has been returned to that club by Nashville, having failed to deliver a winning brand of stuff. The sale of Pitcher Sam Hendee to the Cairo club, of the Kitty league, under an optional agreement, has also been announced. Chick Smith, the young southpaw just secured from Cincinnti, is expected any day and President Hirsig states that another first class slabman will be secured as soon as possible.

Virginia Postmasters.

Washington, May 7.—President Wilson today nominated the following Virginia postmasters:

Leslie F. Ferguson, Appomattox; H. I. Tuggle, Martinsville; E. M. Morrison, Smithfield, and S. L. Cecil, Pennigton Gap.

BACHELORS ACCUSED BY 15-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Los Angeles, May 7.—The Bachelors' club, an organization of wealthy men quartered in an exclusive section of the city, was subjected to a police investigation today after disclosures made by a 15-year-old girl of certain alleged acts of some of its members.

Irene Hagberg, the girl, who was detained in connection with the present vice probe, made a statement to police officials, it was said, involving members of the Bachelors' club, which resulted in the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of one persons whose identity was not made public.

SLAVERY IN PHILIPPINES UNDER AMERICAN RULE

Washington, May 7.—Indirect evidence that slavery has existed in the Philippine islands under the American regime was sent to the senate today by Secretary Garrison. At the same time he stated there were no records in the war department showing directly or indirectly where slavery existed there now. The secretary sent his communication in response to a resolution offered by Senator Borah, who had produced a letter from Secretary Worcester, of the Philippine government, charging that slavery did exist in the islands.

CONVICT IS GIVEN TIME TO PROVIDE FOR FAMILY

Des Moines, Iowa., May 7.—Earl Lindsay, an aviator, flying under the name of Earl Warmouth, sentenced to life imprisonment for attacking a little girl at Colfax, Iowa., today obtained three months in which to provide for his family. The Iowa supreme court today postponed a rehearing of the case until fall, with the consent of Attorney-General Cosson, upon the representation of Lindsay's attorney that he had several aviation contracts for the summer, the proceeds of which would be turned over to his family for their support during his imprisonment.

Institute of Agriculture.

Rome, May 7.—The general assembly of the International Institute of Agriculture, which began its sessions here yesterday, occupied its time today with consideration of the increase in the price of meats. It was decided to collect statistics of cattle throughout the world, for the purpose of studying the causes of the increase in cost and devising a means to combat it. A table also will be prepared showing the consumption of meats in different countries.

SHREVEPORT TO BOOST ATLANTA FOR SHRINERS

"The Shreveport delegation is going to boost Atlanta at the Shrine meeting at Dallas," said Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta convention bureau, yesterday.

"I have a letter fro ma prominent Shriner in that city, and he says that they are going to pull for us good and strong. Likewise, when the Atlanta delegation stops over there for a few hours on the way to Dallas, one big time in a short interval is going to be given us. What's the matter with Atlanta for 1914, anyway?"

For Woman Suffrage.

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—The senate today passed the Magill woman suffrage bill, 29 to 15. The bill gives women the right to vote on all statutory offices. It now goes to the house.

AIRSHIPS TO AID MEXICAN REBELS

Aeroplanes Will Be Used to Drop Bombs on Guaymas Today—The Airships Were Smuggled Across Border.

Nogales, Ariz., May 7.—In the expectation of the assistance of aeroplanes, state troops are mobilizing tonight before Guaymas in greater numbers than ever. A train arrived from the Cananea district with 400 men, artillery and much needed rifle ammunition. The men of the state troops lines below Ortis are being deployed into advancing formation.

The effect of thewar flying machines is expected to offset the value of the Mexican gunboat Guerrero, which lies in Quaymas harbor ready to assist the federal garrison. Passengers arriving here tonight reported that the federal advance was only a few miles north of Empalme.

Major Fleming, of the United States border patrol, tonight sent out a detachment of cavalry along the lines to the west on a report that an effort was being made to smuggle over the missing aeroplane by wagon.

The aeroplane expedition is reported to be arranged by a promoter with the assistance of a Los Angeles aviator of well-known daring. The guaranteed pay for the aerial expedition is said to be $45,000.

The aeroplane sought was shipped from Los Angeles, arriving last night at a desert station 20 miles of Tucson, where it was delivered to unidentified persons and taken away in a wagon. Since then the military and deputy sheriffs have been unable to locate it.

It is reported that the intention was to fly over the border, American aviators and mechanics having been ready on the ground when the machine arrived. How the second machine was smuggled over is not known.

It is said that high explosive shells have been secured which the aviator could drop over the heads of the government troops.

American Arms for Huerta.

Washington, May 7.—The United States will continue the policy adopted in the last administration of permitting the shipment of arms from this country into Mexico for use by the Huerta government, provided officials here are sure such arms will not fall into the hands of rebels.

This became known at the state department today when inquiry was made as to what action was proposed on the claim made in New Orleans by Erneste Fernandez Artega, representative of the constitutionalists, that Huerta is not entitled to immunities under the American neutrality laws which are not afforded the constitutionalist government he represents.

His protest against the shipment of 2,000 more rifles and 3,000,000 cartridges to Mexico on a vessel now at New Orleans has not yet reached the state department. Its receipt will cause no change in policy on the part of the present administration.

Many arrests for violations of neutrality laws of the United States by shipments of munitions of war to revolutionists in Mexico are expected by the department of justice, as a result of the supreme court's decision on Monday that the mere starting of arms and ammunition to forbidden territory was a violation of law.

Copies of the court's decision reached the department today, and preparations were made to instruct government agents on the border to enforce rigidly the president's proclamation, prohibiting exportations to the Mexican rebels.

Palatial Home Confiscated.

Douglas, Ariz., May 7.—The palatial home of ex-Governor Don Luis Torres at Hermosillo, Sonora, has been confiscated by the insurgent state government and will become a hospital. The building is considered one of the finest specimens of Spanish architecture on the continent, and long has been one of the show places of Mexico.

By funds to be raised through a lottery, projected by the state government, the old mansion, set in its grove of tropical trees, will become a public state institution.

Ex-Governor Torres was governor of Sonora for twenty years, during which time it was his penchant to beautify his home and its surroundings. He left the country during the Madero revolution, and has since resided in California.

Americans Redeem Property.

El Paso, Texas, May 7.—American owners of half the gold and silver bullion taken from a passenger train in Mexico some weeks ago by Pancho Villa and his band of constitutionalists, are said to have redeemed their property, paying $50,000 for ninety-seven bars today, receiving the metal at Bustillos, west of Chihuahua City. The bars are valued at $60,000. The remainder of the plunder, which is owned by Mexican mining men, is retained by Villa.

Interesting People of Samoa.

(From the Sydney Herald.)

The most interesting thing about Samoa is not its fair scenery and tropic flora, but its people, who have often been described as the most noble race in the Pacific—simple, honest, affectionate, and above all, hospitable. Judge Dwyer, of Page-Pago, who is visiting Sydney, stated recently that all the natives were now Christians, and evinced a very marked devotion to their church, even though they did not always adhere to its tenets.

Taking them as a whole, their contributions to religious enterprises far exceeded the Biblical tithe, and, with the exception of the Mormons, whose adherents were few, the missions in Samoa were self-supporting. The people were generous to a remarkable degree, and any stranger—white, brown, yellow, or black—was received in any house, supplied with food and sleeping accommodation, no questions being asked about compensation. As far as American Samoa was concerned there were so few foreigners there that this admirable trait had not been stamped out by imposition or abuse of confidence. In morality, they were superior to many other branches of the Polynesian race and were excelled by none. Petty theft was very rare, and foreigners found that the locks and bolts on their houses grew rusty through disuse.

Orphans Till the Soil for Prize Watch

A scene in West End, within the busy city of Atlanta, showing two orphan boys of the Southern Christian Home for Orphans, 299 Lee Street, being instructed in the art of making the earth fruitful. The boys' instructor is Roscoe Erwin, and their plot of ground is at the corner of Lee and Beecher streets.

"Here's where I win that watch!"

With this exclamation, a 12-year-old orphan boy eagerly dug his spade into the ground, on a lot at the corner of Lee and Beecher streets, in West End. Zealously he began turning the sod of "his" little patch of earth. In the little row of beanstalks on which he was working was wrapped up more of his heart's ambition than he had ever thrown into any other undertaking in his sad young life. He was digging in the earth to make something grow—to "create" something—and the idea thrilled him all over. While he was at it he was going to win that prize watch, or make another fellow blister his hands off beating him.

Garden Instruction Plan.

By thus inspiring the little orphan children to industrious and creative work, the plan of garden instruction recently begun by the Southern Christian Home for Orphans has been a splendid success. Located at 299 Lee street, West, End, this orphanage is within the city limits of Atlanta, and the problem has been a hard one to keep the children occupied in a healthful as well as a beneficial line of recreation. They go to the public school in West End during the morning, and every afternoon they are now eagerly at work on their gardening.

They are being taught the art of making the earth bear forth fruit by two men, members of the First Christian church, who have become interested in the orphan children. They are Roscoe Erwin, a business man, connected with Durand's restaurant, and Professor E. B. Martindale, a member of the Tech faculty. The large vacant lot at the corner of Lee and Beecher streets was loaned to the orphans by J. G. and B. F. Bell. With the opportunity for healthful and pleasant labor thus supplied, the orphans began work a few weeks ago, and are now watching with delight the tiny little sprouts as they appear and begin to grow upward

Erwin Furnishes Watch.

Mr. Erwin, who is on the field actively instructing the orphans several days every week, has furnished a watch which is used in timing them for the work they do on their plot of ground, and the same watch he is offering as a prize for the orphan who does the best work during the next two months.

While the boys are the main enthusiasts, several of the girls are also interested in gardening, and have begun planting flowers around the orphanage on Lee streets, and watching the little green slips grow. Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, matron of the home, says that since the garden work began the discipline of the home has been increased, and the spirit prevailing among the orphans has been uplifted, because of something being added to their lives that grips their attention and inspires them to effort.

600,000 ACRES BOUGHT FOR FOREST RESERVE

Latest Purchase 93,000 Acres in Virginia, Tennessee and North Carolina.

Washington, May 7.—Approximately 93,000 acres of mountain land in Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina and West Virginia, was approved for purchase today by the national forest reserve commission. This will make almost 600,000 acres bought by the government up to date for the Appalachian and White mountains forest reservation.

The largest of today's group of tracts comprises 38,400 acres in the Massenuten region in Page, Warren and Shenandoah counties, Virginia, the present purchase practically rounding out what the government needs in that section. In the Potomac purchase area, a group of 32 tracts, totalling 32,660 acres in Frederick and Shenandoah counties, Virginia, and Hardy county, West Virginia, was approved, about half of which adjoin lands already bought. In the Nantahala purchase area in Macon county, North Carolina, 31 tracts, containing 5,465 acres, was approved, filling out tracts previously purchased there. The only purchase in a new are was in Unicoi county, Tennessee, where control of the water- a new area was in Unicoi county, Tennessee river. The six tracts bought today contain 16,460 acres.

Money already has been appropriated sufficient for the purchase of about 1,000,000 acres of the eastern mountain land, although it is estimated that eventually the purchases needed to protect the Appalachian and White mountain watersheds will total about 5,000,000 acres.

ECZEMA BROKE OUT LIKE RASH

Itched So Could Not Rest Without Scratching. Scales in Hair and on Coat Collar a Sight. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

R. F. D. No. 2, Box 46, Nichols, S. C.—"For nearly ten years my husband was troubled with eczema on his head. It broke out like rash in a small place and itched so badly that he could not rest without scratching it. It would anger up, itch and burn, and be about an inch thick. When the fever cooled down it would be scaly. He would scratch the skin off. The scales in his hair and on his coat collar were a sight. In a few days it would be better, then after a few days it would be worse and in a larger circle. About seven years the circle was as large as a tea-cup.

"Home remedies and treatments did no good. I procured one cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed it with the Cuticura Soap and warm water, then applied the Cuticura Ointment every night for a week. It improved so far that I only used them once a week. In six months it was entirely well. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured him." (Signed) Mrs. H. V. Blanton, Apr. 16, 1912.

It costs nothing to learn how pure, sweet, effective and satisfying Cuticura Soap and Ointment are in the treatment of poor complexions, red, rough hands, itching scalps, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, because you need not buy them until you try them. HENTZ CUT IN FIGHT WITH J. A. WINKLES

Injuries of Young Architect Pronounced Serious at Grady Hospital.

In a fight following an altercation as to the kind of materials to be used in the construction of Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey's new residence on Sixteenth street, with J. A. Winkles, a contractor from East Point, Hal F. Hentz, senior member of the firm of Hentz & Reid, was stabbed once in the left side, twice in the right thigh and once in the wrist, yesterday morning. He was taken to Grady hospital, where his wounds were pronounced serious. The police are looking for Winkles, but have not yet caught him.

B. Hammond, superintendent for Hentz & Reid, declared after the fight that the trouble was caused by an argument over the kind of materials to be used in the structure. He said that Mr. Hentz had "called Winkles down" because he was not using materials called for in the specifications.

Mr. Hentz declared at the hospital that Winkles had called him a liar, and that he had struck him. He said that it was then that Winkles drew a knife.

GREEKS MAKE PROTEST.

Object to Flaring Headlines Over Phagan Mystery.

One hundred of the most prominent members of the Greek community in Atlanta gathered in their community hall on Whitehall street last night and protested vigorously against the use of the word Greek in an afternoon paper in connection with the Phagan mystery.

The article in question stated that the Pinkertons had said that the murder of Mary Phagan was done in the Mediterranean style and that a certain Greek restaurant employee was being shadowed, or words to that effect.

"We protest most vigorously against such use of the word Greek in flaring headlines," said D. Vafiadis, Greek consul. Before any arrest of a Greek is made flaring headlines in an extra call the city's attention to the Greek race.

"There is no style in crime that we know of. Each murderer has a style of his own. I never heard of a Mediterranean style until tonight when I read a sensational extra."

"If a Greek had committed this crime he would never get out of Atlanta alive," said G. Algers, president of the Greek community. "The Greeks would have lynched him, and we protest most vigorously against such treatment as we received today in the newspapers. We are industrious and law-abiding and the majority of us are prominent property holders in Atlanta. We do not wish to have the public turned against us. If a Greek should ever be arrested, say Mr. Petros as you would say Mr. Smith."

Harry Dodd Made Receiver.

Harry Dodd, well known Atlanta attorney, was yesterday named receiver to take charge of Myers Millinery company, a corporation located in Atlanta and against which involuntary proceedings in bankruptcy were filed with Deputy Clerk Hood of the federal court Tuesday. In naming Mr. Dodd receiver Referee Adams asked for a bond in the sum of $3,500, which was quickly filed with the clerk of the federal court.

WIFE SAYS HUSBAND IS JEALOUS OF SON

Pretty Mrs. S. J. Bell Asks the Police to Aid Her to Get Back to Texas.

"I'll never go back to my husband. He's thirty years older than I am—which is bad enough. But the worst about him is that he is jealous of his own son, who's older than I am. He thinks I like him, but I dont, not any more than his father."

Such was the vehement statement of 19-year-old Mrs. S. J. Bell, who fled from her husband at Marietta, whom she married less than three months ago, to Police Beavers Wednesday, when she went to him to ask her to get her back to her home in Waco, Texas.

She went to the home of Mrs. William Butler, at 25 Hightower street, when she came to Atlanta, but quarreled with her Wednesday and left her house.

She was sent to the Martyr's home, pending investigations by the police. It is believed that her former pastor in Waco will come for her. She lived with her foster mother, Mrs. Mary Dowd, but wants to go back to her own mother, Mrs. Violet K. Jenks, who is still living.

"BIG PETE" IS DYING AT GRANT PARK ZOO; TOO MUCH STRAW HAT

"Big Pete," the Russian bear at Grant park, is dying.

Pete has a bad case of "strawhatitis," according to Zookeeper Ed Boyd, and there is not a chance of delaying his trip to the happy bear hunting grounds.

Pete's peculiar appetite has caused his illness. Several months ago some mischievous boy hurled a yard of garden hose into Pete's cage. Possibly the bruin mistook the hose for a large stick of licorice and he devoured it with apparent relish. Indigestion of the most aggravated variety resulted and for weeks Pete was on a diet.

Sunday two weeks ago someone threw a straw hat into Pete's cage. Hungry for hay, Pete went after the hat and it went to join the hose. Later in the afternoon several men threw cigar butts into the cage and Pete added them to his ostrich diet.

Now he is wishing that he never had, for Zookeeper Boyd says Pete has suffered something awful during the past week. Yesterday General Manager Dan Carey learned that Pete had taken a turn for the worse and it was not believed that he would live through the night.

Pete is one of the finest animals at the zoo. He was fond of the children and the grown folks, too, but Pete had absolutely no regard for his stomach.

GRADY NURSES WILL GRADUATE THURSDAY

Miss Ethel A. Moore, of Statesville, N. C.; Miss Ethel Mirian Hardwick, of Ellisville, Miss.; Miss Carrie Lee Oliver, of Lowndesville, N. C.; Miss Alberta Frances Sawyer, of Anniston, Ala.; Miss Mary Grace Smith, of Hogansville, Ga., and Miss Caroline O. Frazier, of Lockhart, S. C., will be graduated Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the Grady Hospital Training School for nurses.

Rev. Charles O. Jones, pastor of Grace Methodist church, will deliver the commencement address. Edmund W. Martin, president of the school, will present the diplomas.

The examination of thirty-two applicants for positions as internes at Grady, held Monday and Tuesday, resulted in the picking of seven men, four of whom will begin work June 1, and the other three, December 31.

The successful applicants are: Dr. J. A. Roberts, of Atlanta; Dr. J. C. Patterson, of Lumpkin, Ga.; Dr. C. F. Holton, Jr., of Atlanta; Dr. Ferdinand Herrman, of Eastman, Ga.; Dr. R. E. Wright, of Atlanta; Dr. Kenneth Wood, of Statesville, Ala., and Dr. Lake Armstrong, of Atlanta.

LOCKER CLUBS OF MACON MAY BE CLOSED SUNDAYS

Macon, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—City Attorney A. W. Lane has held that council has the power to order all locker clubs to close their doors on Sunday, but has recommended that if council desires to do so that an ordinance be drawn up and passed. The committee is now at work on the ordinance and it will probably come up for passage at the meeting next week. Recently the mayor ordered that all locker clubs close up at midnight and the order has been generally complied with.

Attorney Lane bases his opinion on the tippling house statute. In the case of Mohrman v. The State, reported in the 105 Georgia, beginning on page 709, there is an interesting decision by Judge Cobb, he says. In this case the defendant was indicted for keeping open a tippling house on the Sabbath. He was manager of a social club as the facts of the case show. In the body of this decision on page 712 is found this language supported by the numerous authorities there cited:

"It has been held that it makes no difference as to whether any liquors be sold or not; the offense consists in its being open, not in selling or offering to sell or giving it away."

Further on in the decision, says the city attorney, Justice Cobb holds that the purpose of this act is to prevent persons congregating and imbibing intoxicants on the Sabbath.

FLIGHT OVER OCEAN KEY WEST TO HAVANA

Cuban Aviator Will Make the Attempt in the Next Few Days.

Key West, Fla., May 7.—An overseas flight from Key West to Havana, a feat which has never yet been performed, will be attempted by Domingo Rosillo, the Cuban aviator, within the next few days, according to announcement here today. Rosillo, who brought his monoplane here by boat from Havana yesterday, stated that he expected to start on his flight not later than Sunday next.

Tomorrow Rosillo plans to make a test flight to the Florida mainland, meeting and accompanying to Key West the train which will bring Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels here to inspect the local naval station. The Cuban aviator said tonight he would request Secretary Daniels to allow United States torpedo boats to assist the Cuban warships in patrolling the course to Havana.

Rosillo's craft is a 50-horse power Morane Lauler. In previous flights the machine has attained a speed of 115 miles against the wind and Rosillo said tonight he felt confident of making the trip to Havana in an hour and a half. The feat was unsuccessfully attempted by Aviator McCurdy in 1911.

GOT WRONG DRUG, NOW SHE WANTS $3,000 DAMAGES

Declaring that her health has been permanently impaired and that she has suffered intensely through the substitution of one drug for another, Mrs. M. B. Calhoun filed a damage suit of $3,000 in the superior court yesterday against Franklin Jackson and A. C. Wessell, doing business at 30 Marietta street as Jackson & Wessell.

In her suit, which was filed by Attorney Burton Smith, Mrs. Calhoun states that she suffers frequently from neuralgia and is accustomed to use laudanum diluted with water as a relief. She says that on November, 1911, she went to Jackson & Wessell's drug store and gave a clerk a bottle into which she asked that he put 45 cents worth of laudanum.

Instead of putting laudanum in it, she states, the clerk put in the bottle iodine, or other highly injurious and poisonous drug of a similar nature. She says that on the next morning she took a dose internally from the bottle which she believed contained laudanum, and that a violent vomiting and a rapid swelling and closing of her throat took place, rendering her prostrated and unconscious.

Her mouth and throat were burned, her intestines injured and her nervous system shocked, as a result of the drug, she declares, and she was kept in bed for a week and had to be fed by artificial means.

In further proof of her right to damages, Mrs. Calhoun declares that for three weeks she was unable to attend to any household duties and that her digestion has been permanently impaired.

IN SHOWER OF SHOTS BURGLAR MAKES ESCAPE

Although all four of them fired pointblank at him when he ran out of the Dixie Grocery company, at 65 Richardson street, early Wednesday morning, an unidentified negro escaped. Call Officers Watson and Anderson, Policeman Arnold and "Boots" Rogers, after he had fired at them several times. Another negro, Woodie Armstrong, was caught in a nearby alley, but nothing found on his person would lead to the belief that he was the burglar. A second robber was in the store when the shooting occurred, but made his escape through the back window.

Policeman Watson sustained slight bruises on his knees as a result of falling while chasing the negro.

The police were notified that the robbery was being made by J. M. Jackson, of 73 Richardson street, who saw the negroes make their entry through the front door. As soon as the automobile with the patrolmen in it pulled up to the curb a negro ran out of the store. He was greeted with a fusillade of bullets, all fired from a distance of not more than 10 feet, but ran away unhurt, returning the fire without injury to the policemen.

GOOD THINGS FOLLOW IN WAKE OF ADVERTISING

Philadelphia, May 7.—The benefit of advertising was touched upon by Herbert M. Carson, manufacturer of New York, in an address here today before the national association of hosiery and underwear manufacturers. He said that advertising was responsible for new and better standards of living, particularly in the line of sanitation and cleanliness. He illustrated, as an example, how soap advertising produced better living conditions.

Life in Parts of Human Tissue After the Organism Has Died

Washington, May 7.—Sustained life in parts of the human tissue after the organism has died, like the snake's tail, which the school boy believes does not die until after the sun has set, was the theme discussed today at the closing session of the congress of American Physicians and Surgeons. The meeting of the congress ended tonight with a reception at a local hotel.

According to papers read by eminent authorities life in cells taken from a living animal organism has been sustained under certain conditions for more than four years after the animal from which they were taken ceased to exist. The speakers declared that it ultimately would be demonstrated that life in several cells could be sustained for as long a period as the organism would live under normal conditions.

This view was taken by Dr. Ross G. Harrison, of Yale university, who spoke on "the life of tissues outside the organism from the embryological standpoint." He was the first speaker on the general topic, "the development of tissues in vitro." He was followed by Drs. Montrose E. Burrows, of Cornell University Medical college, and Robert A. Lambert, of Columbia university.

All maintained that life could be maintained in severed cells and that there could be regular growth in the actual cell divisions, and not merely degenerative movement. It also was declared that life could be suspended and made active again through the application of a proper medium.

Component organs of the congress today continued their sessions. These meetings probably will come to an end tomorrow, when all the subjects scheduled for consideration this year will have been concluded.

At the session of the American Surgical associaion, Surgeon-General C. F. Stokes, of the United States navy, told how the surgeon in civil life could best serve his country in time of war. He said that with a slight amount of additional study these surgeons could be of inestimable service and could fit themselves for the strenuous duties of an army or navy campaign.

Papers on practically all the ills that human flesh is heir to were under discussion with lantern-slide illustrations at the several meetings.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS SCORED BY BRANDEIS

Washington, May 7.—Charges of maladministration, reckless extravagance and undue expansion induced by a spirit of monopolization and aggrandizement, were made today before the interstate commerce commission by Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, against officials of the New York, New Haven and Hartford and the Boston and Maine railroads.

The charges were made in the course of oral arguments submitted to the commission upon the testimony adduced at the commission's investigation of the operations of the New England railroads recently taken in Boston.

The criticism of Mr. Brandeis was met by statements of Charles F. Choate, Jr., personal counsel of President Charles S. Mellen, of the New Haven, who, while admitting that large prices had been paid for some of the properties constituting the New Haven system, declared te action of the directors already had been justified fully in some instances, and, he was certain, would be justified in all by time. Expensive improvements, he said, had been made by the roads to meet the demands of the public.

Referring to Mr. Brandeis as "a minority of one," Mr. Choate said that criticism of the New Haven was rapidly waning in New England, as its operations had become better understood, and he drew smiles from the commissioners and from Mr. Brandeis as well by saying of him:

"He has superb destructive talents, but not a single constructive idea ever has emanated from him to the benefit of our New England public."

HE CHARGES HIS RUIN TO THE STEEL TRUST

Washington, May 7.—Representative Stanley, chairman of the house committee which investigated the steel trust, urged President Wilson today to appoint to a federal position B. S. Kaufman, of Coatesville, Pa., a printer, who Mr. Stanley declared had been ruined because he testified against the steel interests before the committe. Kaufman at th time told the committee he feared retaliation.

"His apprehension was well founded," Mr. Stanley wrote to the president. "The powerful steel companies made good their threat. He has been boycotted by the busines sinterests which the Lukens Iron company controls and is today a hopeful bankrupt. He is a capable man, a good printer and honest citizen, and in my opinion it is an outrage that he should be made to suffer for so genuine a service to the public."

He was a member of the relief party that rescued Lieutenant Grely in 1884. Congress in 1890 awarded him a medal for bravery. He was born in Germany in 1850, and became an explorer at the age of 21.

CARMEN OF SOUTHERN TO RECEIVE MORE PAY

About 25,000 Men on Southern and Its Allied Lines Are Affected.

Kansas City, May 7.—Increase in wages for approximately 1,000 shopmen employed on the Southern railroad and allied lines in the southern states has been granted by the railroads concerned, according to an announcement from headquarters of the International Union of Railway Carmen here today.

The announcement was based upon a telegram from M. F. Ryan, president of the carmen's union, who is attending a conference in Washington, D. C., between the railway managers and heads of the allied shop crafts.

The telegram said an agreement had been reached granting two cents an hour increase to all the carmen, effective April 1, and that this would add to the carmen's income by a total of $165,000 annually.

Officials said 25,000 carmen would be affected. They said the telegram indicated that boilermakers, sheet metal workers and the other allied crafts also had received increases.

Havana, May 7.—Whether the Cuban government will make a contribution of $5,000 to the Maine monument in New York, and whether a detachment of Cuban troops will be sent to take part in the dedication ceremonies were questions which came up for debate in congress today. Objection was raised by Representative Marquetta, a negro, because of the report that the government desired to send only white troops. The house adjourned without reaching a decision.

The under prinning of the structure had burned away when the boy discovered the fire. The train with 150 passengers was halted near the trestle until a support was erected.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

England may as well make up its mind that "votes for women" is soon to be a thing of fact instead of a subject for debate and agitation. The small vote by which the bill looking to this end has just been defeated in the house of commons is indication of that climax. The vote stood at the surprising figures of 266 to 219—only a slender margin of 47 votes preventing the bill's passage.

It is, indeed, probable that the women are themselves responsible for failure of the measure to reach passage at the present time. Speaker after speaker declared he had voted against it because of disapproval of the violent militancy of the suffragettes. It is fair to assume that had the women all along pursued a more pacific course their demands would before have been enacted into law. Another feature that led to the temporary defeat of their cause was the desire of the Irish nationalists to keep the parliamentary track clear for the home rule bill. Once that measure is out of the way it seems that nothing can prevent woman suffrage in England.

And it seems also that nothing can prevent the ultimate triumph of woman suffrage the world over, in the United States, the countries of Europe, even in China and Japan. We all know the wonderful strides the movement has made in America. Sweeping over from the west it has invaded the eastern states, and in only one or two instances has it experienced a serious rebuff. The world, it appears, is waking up from the historic delusion that women are incompetent to vote or to have a voice in government The old conventional, fireside arguments against their enfranchisement are one by one being dealt death-blows.

The day is rapidly approaching when statesmen the world over must make their calculations with an entirely new element included in the electorate. What tremendous readjustments that change will bring with it may now only be surmised. That the change itself is swiftly encroaching no observant man will deny.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION

As it is at present drawn and as it will soon go to the senate, the income tax feature of the tariff bill threatens an unfair discrimination against holders of life insurance policies. The bill now exempts fraternal organizations, but lays a tax of 1 per cent on mutual life insurance companies. The spokesmen for the companies operating under the mutual plan are protesting on behalf of their policyholders, and with justice. They claim that, in effect, fraternal and mutual life insurance companies are conducted upon identically the same principle. It is contended that if the fraternal form of a life insurance company is exempt from taxation the mutual should be also, since the argument that justifies exemption in the first instance is also applicable in the second.

Theoretically, the bill as it now stands exempts all persons with incomes of less than $4,000. But if the measure become a law, unamended, it must in reality tax several million people with incomes of considerably less than $4,000. Every policyholder in a mutual life insurance company, large or small, will be taxed under the bill as it now stands, for the dividends received from a mutual policy, whether in cash or used to reduce premiums, will be levied upon for 1 per cent by the government. It makes no difference whether the income of the man holding a mutual policy is $500 or $3,999 a year. The bill exempts him on its face, but actually reaches his income.

This device is a tax on one of the most important human instincts—the instinct of protection of dependent ones. The finance committee of the senate will, we hope, hesitate long before committing itself to a course that exempts one class of policyholders from government taxation and penalizes another that belongs, substantially, in the same class. If it is right to exempt fraternal insurance, it is right to exempt purely mutual insurance also; and both should be exempted.

CONSERVING CHILDREN

President Wilson's strong indorsement of the mission of the Playground and Recreation Association of America should find a nation-wide echo. Addressing a letter to the convention of this body he characterizes the movement to provide playgrounds for children, especially in cities, as among the most important of our day.

The president has not overstated the case. The past fifteen years has witnessed a wonderful awakening in America to the importance of caring for the child. We used to prate glibly that "the child is father" to the man, without reflecting that with due and intelligent conservation and development of the father we could assume that it would enter its adult heritage strong physically and mentally. Today we have discovered the error and are everywhere trying to remove its effects. We are encouraging medical inspection in schools. We are teaching children sanitation. And we are seeing that unless the child receives its legacy of play and recreation we not only cheat him, but posterity as well.

In this connection it is encouraging to observe that Atlanta's park board is cooperating with Councilman Ashley to secure an appropriation of $5,000 for music in Grant and Piedmont parks during the coming summer. These two parks are the great playgrounds of Atlanta and, in a way, of the state. Every day during the hot summer they are thronged with mothers and children who must depend upon the city to supply them with their only facilities for outdoor recreation during the heated term. On Sundays, the rest day of the week, the crowds are augmented by the adult toilers of the city. The money the city invests for concerts at these two parks will be splendidly spent. Council should grant the appropriation.

The smaller parks and playgrounds of Atlanta are discharging their destined function with notable efficiency. The part they have played and will play in conserving child life in this city would be difficult to estimate.

HONORING UNDERWOOD

A man must loom large in current history and in personality to have the national house of representatives forget partisanship to pay him spontaneous honor. That is what happened recently to Oscar Underwood, of Alabama, democratic house leader and chairman of the ways and means committee. The occasion was his fifty-first birthday.

Republican Floor Leader Mann, among the bitterest partisans on the floor, told the speaker he wished to put aside partisanship and "talk personally." He told the house that fifty-one years ago "one of the ablest men in public life first saw the light of day." And he congratulated "the democratic party and the American people that during the fifty-one years of his life there had grown to greatness and bigness the able gentleman from Alabama, Mr. Underwood." The Associated Press reports that both sides of the house broke into roars of applause.

Mr. Mann's estimate was not only graceful, but accurate. Underwood is now one of the best assets of the party and the nation.

AN OPPORTUNITY

An international commission is now at work planning the celebration of the approaching hundred years of peace between America and Great Britain. Various spectacles and pageants have been suggested, and it is certain that the occasion will be observed with much ceremony and expressions of mutual good will.

Why not seize the opportunity to remove the last cause for friction between the two nations by repealing the Panama canal tolls, which now discriminate in favor of American coastwise shipping? There is, of course, no danger of war between the two countries over this particular issue. But the disregard of treaty obligations on part of the United States casts a reflection upon us not only with Great Britain, but with the entire world.

Should this government speedily remove the blot now resting upon the reputation of America, the forthcoming celebration would be given a new significance in the eyes of civilization.

Eminent authors have consented to act for the moving picture shows. Some of them need the limelight.

Three thousand miles of speechmaking are small matters to Mr. Bryan.

The Face on the Money.

Life will have more of sunny—whatever may befall,
For a girl's face on the money is the sweetest face of all.

(But, to say the truth, good people,
No matter what's the face,
When the dollar's in the pocket.
Life knows amazing grace!)

Yet the face that's on the money of the present or the past
Will never long be with us—the money fades so fast!

(Still, forever and forever,
In every time and place,
The face that's on the money
Is still the finest face!)

A Note From the Toilers.

The toilers in the vineyard are all a-feeling prime:
It's come the tariff's time now—it's come the tariff's time!
We're looking fat and hearty, and this is all to say:
The high cost of living is where you can see it today!

Already where the shortcakes wave
They're four abreast across the slice,
And no one knows but in a trice
There'll be enough to taste real nice!"

A Dream of Sorrow.

One day my soul was dreaming in the light
Alone—save for the light's sweet company,
When Sorrow came, and smiled, and spake to me
Softly, as winds that whisper of the Night.
Sorrow—but O, the lovely-orbed and bright
Unutterable eyes! as if the trace
Of tears had made them sparkle! Was it right
Sorrow should seek me with that strange, sweet face?
The light seemed lovelier to my soul; the grace
Of rose-sweet dawns and tearful twilights blended
Fell like a benediction on the place,
And Night was Light—the beautiful—the splendid!
And when she left me all the light grew less
And came a sense of loss and Loneliness.

This is the testament of Colonel George Bailey, of The Houston Post:

Moral—Raise 'Em Yourself.

(From The Sandersville Georgian.)

The western floods have already had the effect of raising the price of corn, oats and hay and other feed stuff, as many of the warehouses and granaries which were filled with products were swept away. The damage to the railroads also make it impossible for them to handle shipments promptly, and those who are dependent upon the west for supplies will feel the effects of the flood.

But Atlanta Is an Unusual Place

Farmers, Please Notice.

(From The Tattnall County Advertiser.)

Mr. William Hodges, one of our most prosperous farmers, was in town Wednesday and sold about $1,000 worth of cotton to Mr. M. A. Smith, our local cotton buyer. Mr. Hodges usually has some product from his farm to sell, either butter, eggs, chickens, vegetables, honey or something to turn to profit.

Gossip Caught in Corridors Of the National Capitol

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, D. C., May 7.—(Special.)—Former Senator Jonathan Bourne, of Oregon, has made all other apostles of good roads look small. He has literally left them in the high road and demonstrated he is a real leader.

Since his retirement from the senate, Mr. Bourne has been working on a scheme of federal aid in building highways and he proposes to his associates on the joint congressional committee a plan providing for the expenditure of $3,000,000,000 in the next fifty years.

John Corrigan, Jr.

There is no doubt in the Oregonian's mind as to what the government ought to do. He wants Uncle Sam to raise the money on fifty year nontaxable 3 per cent bonds and loan it to the states. One-third of the total amount would be spent for construction and two-thirds for maintenance.

In defending his scheme from the charge of being visionary, he shows there are 890,000,000 acres of farm land in the United States, worth $39,000,000; and on these farms mules and horses whose feed and keep amounts to $1,760,000,000 a year. With good roads, traction engines could supplant horse power, the cost of hauling to market be reduced three-fourths what it now is, and the total value of farm lands double.

Wherever improved highways have been built, property has enhanced in value, and it has not always stopped with doubling.

Senator Bourne is an enthusiast. He is also a dreamer. He dreamed of the way for clearing up the parcels post difficulties and made that system an established fact. He is dreaming about federal aid to good roads and raking the known earth with a fine tooth comb to get facts and arguments to help solve that problem.

Overhauling the Consular Service.

What is the matter with the consular service?

In line with the general overhauling of republican housekeeping the democrats propose to find out.

It is generally admitted that the service is not everything it ought to be. Although there are many capable men representing the United States in foreign countries, the consuls generally have not rendered that service that a business house would expect from its commercial agents.

Business men in the south do not call upon our consuls for trade information and advice very often, and when they do have not always found the reply either prompt or satisfying.

Since 1896 appointments in the consular service have been by competitive examination and the merit system has prevailed instead of the old spoils system. Applicants must be able to use one language in addition to their own, and must stand a rigid oral and written examination on various subjects.

To encourage young men to enter this field, advancement on merit has been provided for, and the effect of political influence eliminated as far as possible. However, it is a fact that today there are more republicans than democrats in the service and more northerners and easterners than southerners.

Lindsay Johnson an Applicant.

Colonel Lindsay Johnson, of Rome, who is mentioned for consul-general at Shanghai, was talking to Mr. Bryan, secretary of state, about the qualifications for the office.

"Can you speak Chinese?" asked Mr. Bryan.

"I can answer any question in Chinese you can ask me!" was the reply.

Georgia's Consuls.

Georgia is now credited with appointments in the consular service, as follows:

North Winship, of Macon, now located at Tahiti, Society Islands, was the latest to receive an appointment from Georgia. He receives $2,000 a year.

Nathaniel B. Stewart was appointed from Butler, Ga., and is now stationed at Durban, Natal. He is in the $3,500 class. He graduated from the University of Georgia.

Marion Letcher, was born in Alabama, but lived in Georgia three years, at Conyers and Douglasville. He is now in the trouble district of Mexico, being located at Chihuahua in the northern part of Mexico where General Salazar is operating.

J. G. Carter is a Brunswick negro who is now stationed at Tamatave, Madagascar, and his salary is $2,500 a year. He is a graduate of Tuskegee.

David J. B. Myers, of LaFayette, Ga., is consul at Puerto Cortez, Honduras, and receives $2,500 a year. He graduated from the University of Georgia.

William A. Haygood, of Atlanta, is now at Cape Town, Cape of Good Hope.

INFLUENCE

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Just as soon as you begin to Think or Do something, you begin to have Influence. Influence is something you can't keep at home. And when it gets away from you, you can never recall it.

Your Influence makes you Something of Somebody else.

Influence has no boundaries. Once started, though it may seem ever so trifling, yet it may have as its destination the farthermost corners of the Earth. If you would get a conception of Power, realize the Influence of a Strong Man.

It is well to remember that what you have that you can't help but give away is your Influence.

Bear in mind that your Influence is never wholly absorbed, nor does it disappear into Nothingness. It Counts again and again. Influence has no end.

The three greatest objects in life—Friends, Happiness, Success—are each dependent upon proper Influence. So it is good to know that even the humblest person is, after all, master of his own Influence. He can send it out to scatter Sunshine or Shadows. It's his Choice.

A man's greatest Responsibility in this world lies in the way he acquires and gives out—his Influence.

Your Influence today is sure to have a tremendous bearing upon the total work of the world. Your Influence upon other people and the Influence of other people upon you is sure to become a Force and a Factor in the complete work of your day and theirs.

The World's Mysteries

MYSTERIES of LITERATURE

VILLON, THE "GUTTER GENIUS"

Who was Francois Villon? That is the name by which the great French "genius of the gutter" is known in literature. It is a name he adopted for more reasons than one, and was the one he used as a writer. He had very many others that he appropriated at various periods of his life, for he was of such a villainous character that he was almost continually in trouble and assumed one name after another to throw the authorities off his track.

The real name of the man who won great fame as a poet in the fifteenth century has never been ascertained. It is said that he assumed the name of Francois Villon because his friend and benefactor was named Guillaume de Villon. It was Guillaume who took the young renegade into his home and tried to reform him, recognizing his wonderful genius. Among the other names by which he was known at various times, as far as recorded, are Corbier, Pitou, De Montcorbier, Des Leges and Corbeull.

Which, if any of these names, was really his own is uncertain. About all that is known of his early life is that he was born of poor parents, and, as it seems, certainly in Paris. His father died when he was young, and it is evident that he was devoted to his mother, for some of his most beautiful lines he addressed to her. His boyhood days were spent in the low taverns of Paris, among the riff-raff of the underworld. In spite of the marvelous genius that he exhibited in very early life, he seemed to be most at home among the sordid criminal class, where he exhibited as much iniquity as they did. He fought, stole, caroused and killed with ruffians, and he would then turn around and write such wonderfully beautiful and musical poems that even his besotted comrades loved them.

The first murder that was laid at his door was that of a priest whom he stabbed to death in the streets of Paris while returning from a drunken revel. He sought shelter in the slums where his criminal admirers kept him secreted for close to two years. Through wealthy friends, who were admirers of his genius, he secured a pardon. Hardly had he emerged from his hiding place when he became embroiled in a fight in a cheap tavern of Paris and was so badly used up that he fled from the city out of disgrace at his appearance. To the doctor who dressed his wounds he gave the name of Michael Moulton, another one of his many aliases.

Then he became a student at the College of Navarre, near Angers, France. It is supposed that his object was more for the purpose of robbery than for the acquiring of further education. Only a short time after his arrival the treasure chest of the college chapel was broken open. A band of student-thieves were arrested, and one of them gave evidence that Villon was the ringleader of the party, and that he was planning further robberies.

Villon was put to the torture and then sentenced to be hanged. As he lay in prison waiting execution he wrote one of his greatest poems, a grim, wonderful bit of verse entitled "Ballade of the Hanged." The influence of his friends secured the setting aside of this punishment and he was banished from the country and for many years thereafter he drifted from one country to another, sometimes living in the palaces of royalty on account of his wit, and again robbing and making narrow escapes from being confined in prison.

Finally, he was caught robbing a church and was imprisoned for the crime of sacrilege. For this crime Villon owed his release to a general gaol-delivery at the accession of Louis XI. Free once more, his wild spirit of adventure seemed to desert him, and he wrote the "Grand Testament," the work which has immortalized him. He was thirty years old at this time.

Here the next mystery of his life begins. What became of him? In the autumn of 1462 he is found, broken in health and spirits, living in the cloisters of Saint-Benoit. His dissipation, it would appear, had undermined his health and he is said to have died there of consumption in 1463. Certain historians doubt this fact, and believe that he lived a number of years thereafter, but if such be the case nothing definite was heard of him after 1463.

The obscurity, unhappiness and the evil repute of Villon's life would not be in themselves a reason for the minute investigation to which the events of that life have been subjected, but his poetical work, scanty as the certainly genuine part of it is, is of such extraordinary quality, and marks such an epoch in the history of European literature, that he has been at all times an interesting figure.

CALIFORNIA MUST NOW TAKE ITS OWN RACE MEDICINE

Editor Constitution: Referring to the California-Japanese land question wherein the Japanese government is protesting the passage of the California anti-alien land law, which the government is being so strenuously seconded in its protest by the president and his gifted secretary, it is very probable the Japanese government is right in its protest.

A number of the men of the south can yet vividly call to mind the brutal insistence of California and the remainder of the northern states who fought the south in the war between the states, that as a condition precedent to their readmission to the American union, and the turning over to them unfettered with military domination of their state government, the southern states must ratify the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the constitution of the United States.

The last clause of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States is as follows: "Nor shall any state deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

The supreme court of the United States, construing this clause of the fourteenth amendment in the case of Yivk Wo, a Chinaman, vs. Hopkins, 118 U. S. 356, said:

Nor are the provisions of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution confined to the protection of citizens. These provisions are universal in their application to all persons within the territorial jurisdiction, without regard to any difference of race, color or of nationality; and the equal protection of the law is a pledge of the protection of EQUAL LAWS.

To more fully afford this protection U. S. Rev. Stat., Sec. 1977, was passed.

The passage of the fourteenth amendment was the greatest blow to the doctrine of state sovereignty suffered during the war, and was forced upon the American union over the protests of the south and was passed to prohibit the southern states from legislating directly concerning the negro population by name without including the remainder of the people in the law.

It will be readily observed that from the wording of the fourteenth amendment and the decision above cited that it is very probable the legislature of the state of California has not now the power to prohibit aliens from owning land in the state, but the question is one for congress. California deprived herself of this right when she was so eager to deprive the old south of this simple right of police protection, to prohibit certain classes from doing that which her own citizens are allowed to do.

The proper thing to do is for California to take the lead in asking for the repeal of the fourteenth amendment, and to admit that it was wrong in joining in the movement to fix it on the south.

Until this is done California ought to be required to live up to the constitution and give to Japs and Chinks the full measure of their rights as she expects the south to accord to the negro population.

To my mind the Japanese treaty has nothing to do with the question, but the constitution is controlling and the supreme court will declare the California statute void.

What Will You Do With Her?

By Philip Weltner.

The heavy gate of the jail swung open to receive the miserable wreck of a woman. She knew she had tasted of the dregs of iniquity, and the foulness of her past stifled her cries and choked her sobs. It was only a week before that she had finished a thirty-day sentence in the city prison. In order to clothe herself decently, she borrowed of her fellow-inmate a hat, coat and shoes, promising to return them as soon as she could provide herself otherwise. No sooner did she get to the streets than the lure of the drug got her in its grip, and she pawned the clothes to buy the drug her system craved. It was for this crime that she received a three months' jail sentence. There she is, a pitiable derelict, diseased in body, mind and soul.

The following is the record of this one woman from 1908 to the present time:

1908. Charge.	Days in Stockade.	Fines Paid.
Case 1—Disorderly conduct	..	$ 5.75

The fines in this one case total $196.15, but does that compensate the state for the other lives she has dragged down into the mire of her saturnalian round of debauchery and crime? How many other girls has she destroyed? Behind her every touch there lurks the danger of a dread disease. Did the $196.15 pay for its merciless ravages?

She was brought up in poverty and rags. From infancy on she was made the familiar of the degraded. Why was not her progress checked? Why was not the saving chance given her when a child to attain to a right womanhood?

What is the state going to do with its girl problem? The situation is of urgent gravity. Are the girls worth less than the boys? Thirty-four states say not. Backing up their assertion by excellent training schools for wayward girls. These states know that these children do not go to their doom alone, that they drag down countless others with them. They have learned the folly of not preventing prostitution from witnessing the repetition of the story of the Jukes within their own borders. These two fallen girls left behind them a progeny whose scarlet flame of disease, insanity and crime cost the state of New York well up into the millions of dollars.

The children's court of Fulton county has on its calendar over seventy girls, whom it is helpless to save. Every day they see fresh evidences of their increasing viciousness. The next legislature must and will provide for them an industrial training school.

Any amount of money spent in this behalf would be a tremendous saving.

LABOR UNIONS EXEMPT FROM THE SHERMAN LAW

Also Farmers' Organizations. Congress Forbids Use of Funds to Prosecute.

Washington, May 7.—By a vote of 41 to 32 the senate tonight refused to accept an amendment to the sundry civil bill by Senator Gallinger striking out a clause exempting labor and farmers' organizations from prosecution under the anti-trust law with funds appropriated by the bill. Three republican senators, Jones, Lafollette and Norris, voted with the democrats against the Gallinger amendment and two democrats, Pomerene and Thomas, joined the republicans in supporting it. The bill itself, carrying about $117,000,000, finally was passed by a viva voce vote with only one minor committee amendment. It will be sent to conference probably on Friday and should be ready for President Wilson's consideration next week. Friends of the president believe he will sign it.

During the debate today Senator Cummins made an effort to have congress take up the question of exempting labor and farmers' organizations from the Sherman act, directly and not by legislation in an appropriation bill. He moved that consideration of the sundry civil bill be suspended until May 17; that the senate interstate commerce commission be directed to report on the advisability of such exemptions, and that if found advisable it should accompany its report with a bill for that purpose.

All Amendments Beaten.

On motion of Senator Martin the Cummins proposal was laid on the table and several minor amendments proposed were beaten by a loud chorus of "noes," and without requiring record votes. Before the final vote was taken the senate spent three days in debate on the labor clause and scores of senators spoke on the subject. Speeches on the republican side indicating an apparent willingness to see the Sherman law amended and made more specific may lessen the difficulties of President Wilson in putting through his reported plan for changes in this law.

Senator Sterling, of South Dakota, attacked the provision exempting labor and farm organizations.

"The Sherman law stands as a sword and a shield to the farmer and the laboring man," said he. "As interpreted by the supreme court it is his protection in every lawful enterprise to secure better prices or increases in wages or shorter hours or better sanitary conditions, and further than that no class should ask to go."

Senator Sherman, of Illinois, introduced an amendment giving labor expressly the power to organize "to preserve rights now possessed," but not going as far as the house bill.

"I would rather not return to this body after the two years I am now commissioned to serve," said he, "than stultify my conscience by aiding the rampant lawlessness abroad in this country. I am confident no reasonable labor man will ask for more than I grant in my amendment."

Root Attacks Provision.

Senator Root declared the exemption tended to lessen respect for law.

"The real meaning is that congress gives notice to the executive that laboring men and farmers may violate the law as criminals, but they shall not be prosecuted. It may be the Sherman law should be changed, but this legislation means we are willing some men shall violate the law with impunity while others must be punished by fine and imprisonments for violating the same laws."

Defending the proposed proviso, Senator Thomas read a circular issued by the United Shirt and Collar company, of Troy, N. Y., to its employees asking them to write to senators in opposition to the Underwood bill and at the same time reducing wages.

"That company violated the Sherman anti-trust law and the common law and should be proceeded against," declared the senator.

Irish Home Rule Bill.

London, May 7.—The home rule for Ireland bill was reintroduced in the house of commons today by Premier Asquith, and read a first time under the standing order of the house, which debars debate. It will come up for second reading on June 2.

Buy Diamonds Before Prices Are Advanced

Importers and cutters advise us that the DeBeers syndicate has increased prices on diamonds since January $15.00 to $30.00 per carat. This increase applies on stones of nearly all sizes in the first four grades.

This advance will affect prices in this country within the next four months. In the new Tariff bill now before Congress it is proposed to increase the duty 10 per cent on both rough and polished diamonds. This new rate will in all probability go into effect as soon as the bill is passed, and will naturally cause a corresponding advance in prices.

Our present stock of diamonds, while it lasts, will be sold at the old prices. This affords you the opportunity to buy correctly graded diamonds, on the right basis, in the face of a certain definite advance in prices.

We ship diamonds in assorted qualities direct to out-of-Atlanta customers, without any expense or obligation on their part. You can buy for cash or on our attractive monthly payment plans.

Net prices and full particulars are given in our booklet, "Facts About Diamonds," and 160-page catalogue.

Write or call for these books and make your selection before the advance.

Duchess Cursed Duke

Extra precautions will hereafter surround Frederick II, grand duke of Baden, following the attempt made to assassinate him at the Mannheim railroad station. The attempt recalls the curse of Stephanie, wife of Grand Duke Charles of Baden, who was a niece of Empress Josephine and married Charles at the request of Napoleon. Her son, Kaspar Hause, heir to the throne, was kidnaped, presumably by agents of Mlle. Geyer, the morganatic wife of Charles. Stephanie, who died sixty years ago, cursed the line of succession because of what befell her son. In the attempt on Frederick her curse was nearly fulfilled.

CHEAPER TO SHOOT THAN TO TELL LIE ABOUT BEING SHOT

Savannah, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—It is cheaper to shoot a man in Chatham county than to lie about getting shot by one. This was demonstrated in the superior court today when Judge Walter G. Charlton sentenced Henry Battise to serve four years in the penitentiary for perjury.

Battise was shot by Andrew Young in a fight at Thunderbolt. He went to St. Katherines Island to keep from testifying, but was caught and brought back to Savannah.

On the witness stand he denied that Young had shot him, or that he had ever seen Young. The jury convicted Young and he was sentenced to serve one year. Battise was then arrested on a warrant charging perjury.

COUNCIL OF BANKERS CONCLUDES SESSIONS

New York, May 7.—The executive council of the American Bankers' association ended today its three-day session at Briar Cliff Manor. The members gathered tonight in this city for a banquet.

In the closing hours of the meetings a redrafted constitution was prepared. This will be presented to the association at its annual meeting in Boston in the fall, when Atlanta's invitation to hold the executive council meeting in that city in 1914 will be considered. San Francisco extended an invitation to meet there in 1915, but this was not taken up. A set of blank forms for general use in clearing house and other operations was adopted.

Morris Goldwater, Prescott, Ariz., was elected a member of the council, giving that section of the country representation for the first time.

POWER OF PRESIDENT IN REGARD TO CUBA

Washington, May 7.—Senator Bacon, chairman of the foreign relations committee, reintroduced today his bill defining the authority of the president for intervention in Cuba, which prescribes that any intervention in future shall be to sustain the authorities in Cuba, rather than for the purpose of displacing them.

"I do not wish to have the introduction of the bill at this time," said Senator Bacon, "arouse any idea that there is now anything in Cuba calling for intervention. But we never know when conditions calling for intervention might arise."

DIPLOMAS ARE GIVEN TO 88 YOUNG DOCTORS

The fifty-eighth annual commencement of the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons was held last night in the Atlanta theater, when eighty-eight young physicians received their diplomas.

This is one of the largest classes which has ever graduated from the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons and practically every state in the union was represented.

The class officers were as follows: D. T. Brock, president; W. K. Sharp, Jr., vice president; J. C. Patterson, Jr., secretary; C. T. Vickers, treasurer; K. Wood, historian; T. B. Armstrong, orator.

Thompson Leads Poultrymen.

Danville, Ill., May 7.—E. B. Thompson, of Amenia, N. Y., was elected president of the American Poultry association, and Atlantic City, N. J., was chosen as the next meeting place, it was announced today by I. L. McCord, of this city, election commissioner who canvassed the mail vote.

200 CROSSES ARE GIVEN TO VETERANS OF GRAY

Two hundred bronze crosses have been given to confederate soldiers since last June by the Daughters of the Confederacy in Georgia through Mrs. Williams McCarthy.

The U. D. C. at one time last year started to discontinue the giving of these crosses, but owing to a strenuous fight on the part of Mrs. McCarthy this was never accomplished.

To Buy a Railroad.

Mobile, Ala., May 7.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Mobile and Ohio railroad company, held here today, authority was given for the purchase of the St. Louis and Cairo railroad, running from East St. Louis to Cairo, a distance of 152 miles; the issuance of $3,000,000 of Mobile and Ohio, St. Louis division 5 per cent gold bonds, and the execution of a mortgage upon the property purchased to secure the bonds. The St. Louis and Cairo railroad has heretofore been operated under lease.

THIRD FEDERAL JUDGE WANTED FOR GEORGIA

Savannah Bar Working for a Judicial District in South Georgia.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, May 7.—(Special.)—An additional federal court judge for Georgia may be created as the result of the campaign set on foot by the lawyers of Savannah. At a conference with the members of the Georgia delegation held here today the necessity for another judge was stressed by representatives of the Savannah bar.

No agreement was reached, but those favoring the movement were requested to furnish additional evidence to support their claim and members of the Georgia delegation promised to confer with their constituents.

Representatives from north Georgia were very positive that none of their counties in their districts were ready to be cut off and put in another district. The indications are that Atlanta, Athens and Augusta will be in the northern district, and the territory between Columbus, Macon and Savannah will be in the middle district, and a new district created in south Georgia.

ADAIR MAKES ANSWER TO MEMPHIS SHRINER

So confident is Forrest Adair that Atlanta will get the big Shriner convention in 1914 that he has refused to bet with O. K. Houck on the subject.

Mr. Houck is a big Memphis Shriner and a man who is known to have made more freak bets than any other man in the south. Houck wants to bet Mr. Adair that if Memphis gets the Shrine convention Adair will foot the crossties from Dallas to the Gate City, and vice versa.

"What's the use of such a bet?" Mr. Adair is quoted as saying. "Atlanta is going to get the Shriners, and then I would have to walk behind Mr. Houck every foot of the way to be sure that he really did walk to Memphis. So either way it goes I would have to walk. I would rather save that shoeleather and walk in the big parade in Atlanta in 1914."

Atlanta is supremely confident that she is going to get the convention, and according to local sporting enthusiasts it would be like taking candy from a baby to bet on the question.

"I wouldn't have the heart to take up such a bet," one prominent Shriner said Wednesday. "It would simply mean that Houck, who is no lightweight, would have to hoof it over the great staked plains and through the bottoms of Mississippi, and that wouldn't be any too easy on such a man. Nothing doing. We've already landed that convention."

HE ATE WITH NEGRESS AND LOST HIS PLACE

Texarkana, Ark., May 7.—Because he ate a meal with a negress servant in his home, D. A. Stephenson, principal of the Central High school, on the Texas side of this city, was today summarily discharged. Formal charges were filed with the board of directors of the high school.

Mr. Stephenson was told that if he did not appear before the board and plead in extenuation that there is no law or regulation against a white teacher eating a meal with a negro, he could consider himself discharged. He did not appear before the board.

His remark to other officials that Theodore Roosevelt had once dined with a negro at the white house had the effect of causing the board to discharge him forthwith.

Stephenson at noon today left Texarkana for his home at Hickory, Mo. He came here last September and had recently been re-elected principal of the school for another year.

GIRL WOULD PREACH TO PRESBYTERIANS

Chicago, May 7.—The action of the Chemung Presbytery of Elmira, N. Y., in taking under its care Miss Rachel C. Brooks, a candidate for the ministry, will be declared unique in tomorrow's issue of the "Continent," a Presbyterian periodical. It was only a year ago that the general assembly of the church voted against ordination of women.

Miss Brooks was graduated from Elmira college and wanted to preach in rural communities financially unable to support a regular pastor.

LA FRANCE ENGINE ACCEPTED BY CITY

"Firemasters Owe an Apology to the Other Bidders," Declares Mayor Woodward.

The proposal of the American La France company to sell the city a fire apparatus for the tenth ward for $9,000 with a guarantee to keep the tires in condition for a period of five years was accepted by the firemasters at the meeting last night.

Only four members of the board voted when Alderman A. H. Van Dyke, who was asked to preside, put the acceptance of the La France bid as a substitute for the bid of the Ahrens-Fox company for $9,500. The votes recorded in favor of the La France bid were Alderman Warren, Councilmen Sisson and Boynton and Fire Chief William B. Cummings.

Mayor Refuses to Vote.

Mayor Woodward was at the meeting. He refused to vote after the bid of the Ahrens-Fox company was eliminated. The other members who refused to vote to accept the American La France company bid were Aldermen Ragsdale and Van Dyke and Councilmen Lynch and Humphrey.

The mayor stated after the meeting that he was not satisfied with the acceptance of the bid of the American La France company. He would not give his reasons.

"The board owes an apology to the other gentlemen who bid against the American La France company for putting in their bids," Mayor Woodward said.

Asked why he opposed the bid of the American La France company, Mayor Woodward replied that he did not like the methods employed by P. O. Hebert, the agent, in his dealings with the city. He said that even though the Ahrens-Fox bid was $500 higher than the La France bid, he believed it to be the best engine.

Here Are Other Bids.

The other bids were as follows:

Nott company, $7,500 for a four-cylinder and $9,000 for a six-cylinder; Robinson company, $9,000 for six-cylinder and $8,500 for a four-cylinder engine with a rebate of 3 per cent for cash on both bids; Webb company, $8,850 for six-cylinder engineand $8,100 for a four-cylinder engine.

The La France made the city a proposition to keep the engine in tires for a period of five years, supply the fittings and keep it painted. On the other hand the company binds the city to allow its agent to show the machine to prospective purchases.

The specifications sent out by the city require a triple combination apparatus, one combining the three features of a pumping engine, chemical and hose wagon. The pump capacity demanded is 700 gallons per minute.

Engine Delivered at Once.

In the purchase of the engine from the La France company the city gains the advantage of having the engine delivered immediately. The machine the city will receive is the one purchased by the board of firemasters in 1912 and which was the cause of the controversy between Mayor Woodward and the fire department. The engine was delivered to Atlanta, but the mayor's opposition to the purchase delayed its being turned over to the city.

According to P. O. Hebert, the agent, it is in the depot. It will be installed at the new station within the next two or three days.

Mayor Woodward, although opposed to the purchase, must approve it, as there are no legal or valid reasons which he can resort to.

SHE WON HER FREEDOM BY A HUNGER STRIKE

Chicago, May 7.—Paulina Armstrong won her fredom from the house of correction today by adopting the methods of the Landon suffragettes and going on a hunger strike. Jailer Whitman reported to Municipal Judge Hopkins that the woman, who was serving a sentence for misdemeanor, had refused to eat for ten days. Judge Hopkins issued a pardon.

DOOLY SHERIFF SHOT WHILE KILLING SLAYER

Two Men Dead and Third Mortally Wounded as Result of Duels Near Vienna.

Vienna, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—Two men are dead and a third mortally wounded as a result of two pistol battles near here today. The first encounter was between Oscar Blow and P. P. Sangester, the latter being killed. When Sheriff Bennett and his deputies cornered Blow he opened fire, shooting the sheriff in the stomach. The officer killed Blow as he fell.

The scene of the shooting was near Pilkington's distillery, this county. Blow and Sangster were farmers and neighbors. Bad blood had existed between them for some time. They were both reputed to be game and met this morning to settle their differences. After slaying Sangster, Blow at once went to his home.

When the sheriff called upon him to surrender his answer was a bullet which knocked the officer from his horse. The first bullet the sheriff fired struck Blow's heart.

Sheriff Bennett is still alive, but is dangerously wounded. Dooly superior court, in session this week, has been adjourned for the day by Judge Walter George. Great excitement prevails, all the parties concerned being prominent and well known.

McReynolds Declines.

Washington, May 7.—Attorney General McReynolds today declined to send to the senate correspondence between the state department and the department of justice in regard to the settlement of the Brazilian coffee valorization scheme, because "in compatible with the public interests." He did, however, send other papers on the subject.

Water Famine for 'Frisco.

San Francisco, May 7.—W. B. Bourn, president of the concern that supplies San Francisco with water, is authority for the statement that if conditions continue, the city will face a water famine during 1915, exposition year. The present supply of about 40,000,000 gallons per day will not be adequate in 1915, he said, and while water rates are kept at their present level, his company would be unable to extend its water system to keep pace with the increasing demand.

Telephoning in the Coulds.

(From Tid-Bits.)

A telephone exchange three miles in the air! This station, said to be the highest in the world, is in the meteorological observatory on the top of Mt. Rosa, in the Pennine Alps, 15,450 feet above sea level. At this elevation snow is always found, and advantage is taken of the high insulation given by dry snow, the wires in the last section, at the peak, being simply laid on the snow-covered ground. To prevent breakage by glacier movements the line is carried through rings on the telephone poles. The poles are short and are taken down at the end of every summer season and replaced at the beginning of the following summer.

A Mother's Criticism.

(Paris Correspondent London Express.)

When the new president of the republic returned to his house in the Rue Commandant Martin after his election his mother, neglecting the official personages present, kissed her son in front of them all, and then, patting his cheek, remarked clearly and distinctly: "I only hope, Raymond, that you have not undertaken too difficult a job. You were never quite so clever as you thought yourself, you know."

PARDON IS GRANTED TO NEGRO RAVISHER

Columbus, Ohio, May 7.—Louis H. Peck, the negro who caused the Akron riot, in 1900, during which two persons were killed and the city hall dynamited and burned, and who was serving a life sentence in the penitentiary for an alleged assault on a 6-year-old white girl, was pardoned today by Governor Cox. No reason was given for the pardon.

Peck was taken to Cleveland at the time of the riot, but a week later was returned to Akron on a special train, was rushed in the back door of the courthouse, arraigned, pleaded guilty, was sentenced and was again on the train on his way to the penitentiary in this city, all within eight minutes.

Third Ward Civic Club.

A bright meeting of the Third Ward Civic club was held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lewis, 170 Sydney street.

This club is doing a splendid work in organizing junior civic leagues in the public schools, realizing that the school children are the most valuable asset to the state. The entire ward is interested in the two prizes, the club prize for clean yards and the Truax prize for beautiful flowers. It was decided to divide the money into two prizes of $3 and $2 in order to allow more people to participate in the distribution. Attention is called to the fact that the entries for these prizes close on May 15, and all who wish to compete are requested to mail name and address before that date to the secretary, Mrs. A. S. Wilson, 79 Augusta avenue. Believing in primary prophylaxis, the club went on record as opposed to uncovered loaves of bread and passed a resolution urging bakers to wrap and seal all loaves before leaving the bakery.

The Third Ward women are working for the Woman's Edition and hope to turn in a good report of both advertising and subscriptions.

Five dollars was pledged to Tallulah Falls school and in order to meet such calls the club is actively engaged in preparing for a large entertainment to be given in the immediate future. "Complexion Secrets Of An Actress"

In a recently issued volume bearing the above title, the author says: "Continuous use of grease paints, rouge and the like, had ruined my complexion. My skin was colorless, wrinkled, coarse and punctured with large pores. In England I heard of the virtues of mercolized wax; my first experience with this marvelous substance convinced me it was more valuable than all cosmetics combined. Now whenever my complexion begins to go wrong I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the nearest drug store, spread on a thin layer of it before retiring, washing it off next morning. The wax, after a few such treatments, seems literally to absorb the worn-out cuticle, when a brighter, healthier, younger-looking skin appears.

"For the wrinkles and enlarged pores, I began using a solution of saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this every day for awhile soon relieved the condition most wonderfully."

JAPAN'S AMBASSADOR WAITING FOR BRYAN

When Secretary Reaches Washington Today He Will Face the Land Question.

Washington, May 7.—First among Secretary Bryan's callers when he reached Washington from Sacramento tomorrow morning probably will be Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador. It has been assuemed that the ambassador has been awaiting this opportunity to deliver personally to the secretary of state a protest from his government against the California alien land legislation, but it is believed now the first effort of the ambassador will be to get from the secretary some idea of what the administration proposes to do after Governor Johnson signs the land bill, as it is generally expected he will do. Before answering this question, however, Mr. Bryan must report and confer with President Wilson regarding his California mission, so he probably will suggest that his conference with Viscount Chinda be postponed for a short time.

It is well understood that the effect of this will be simply to delay the presentation of the Japanese protest unless Secretary Bryan is able to suggest some means of dealing with the present phase of the question that will make the protest unnecessary. It has been suggested that this might take the form of the proposal to negotiate a ne wtreaty to replace the existing one. A new treaty expressly disclaiming the right of citizens of either country to acquire real property in the other might meet the needs of the case, and save Japanese pride by removing the charge of discrimination. This, it is pointed out, would work hardship upon American missionary interests and some large business concerns which now hold real estate in Japan under the "superfices" law, a modified form of the American ground rent system.

Some of the legal minds of the administration have come to the conclusion that in the event the California law is contested in the courts, the case must rest not upon the existing treaty, which they say the low does not technically violate, but upon the broad principle of international law. No treaty specifically describes all of the rights which an alien may enjoy in the country of his residence, and in the opinion of some of these international lawyers the disregar dor violation of a right common to all civilized peoples, is as much a discrimination as a willful disregard of a treaty provision.

CHINA IS PREPARING TO FIGHT LAND LAW

Washington, May 7.—China is preparing to follow Japan in protesting against the California alien land bill.

Ownership of lands in California by Chinese has diminished considerably within the last few years, but many Chinese land owners still are there, and it is with the purpose of protecting them against loss of their property that the Chinese government is contemplating a protest.

And a happy collection, too, affording a wide choice. The materials are storm serge, French serge, whipcord, eponge, covert cloth, basket weave and mixture weave in black, navy and grays and tan. Many styles; plain mannish coats, belted coats, smartly trimmed coats with turn-back cuffs and satin revers and great ornamental buttons. All spring weights, three-quarter length, lined to waist with messaline—often of Dresden pattern.

Splendid coats sure to find new owners at these new prices.

Milans and panamas.

They come under the general head of tailored hats, which very poorly tells their attractiveness. The Milans are bedecked with wings, feathers, snowy white ribbons and navy and then you see a tiny cluster of flowers on a brim. Shapes—so varied that you will quickly find one becoming to you.

The panamas are very plain—shirtwaist panamas with no other trimming than the ribbon band.

All bear the Burgesser mark.

CEREMONIAL SESSION FOR YAARAB TEMPLE

A ceremonial session of Yaaeba temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., will be held Thursday night at 8 o'clock in Taft hall. Fifty-four candidates will journey across the bab sands. Zem-zem and other refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting. The business meeting will be held at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the Masonic temple. On Friday the Atlanta representatives leave for the Imperial council at Dallas, Texas, accompanied by the Yaarab patrol and drum corps.

No Rehearsal Tonight.

There will be no rehearsal of the Atlanta music festival chorus tonight. The hall is being used for another purpose, so it was necessary to change the plans. There will be a regular rehearsal of the chorus, however, Monday evening at 8 p. m., at Cable hall, and all members are urged to attend, as the chorus is to appear shortly in a grand concert before the Presbyterian delegates assembled from all parts of the country.

MISS HARRISON AT ATLANTA DURING THE ENTIRE SEASON

As the result of the cordial reception accorded Miss Agnes Tinsley Harrison by the big audiences which have seen her since her debut at the Atlanta theatre Monday night, the Billy Long Stock company has announced that the talented young Atlanta society girl will be seen in prominent parts during the entire season of the stock company, which it is expected will last all summer.

The management of the company is delighted with the unusual cleverness displayed by Miss Harrison, and the members of the entire cast are enthusiastic in their praise of the efforts of the young Atlanta girl, who was, during the present week, appeared for the first time behind the footlights.

"I have never seen a more promising young actress," declared Miss Long Wednesday, "and it is going to mean much for the effectiveness of our productions that we are to have her with us for the balance of the season. Miss Harrison is undoubtedly possessed of marked ability, and she has a very bright future ahead of her on the stage. The ease and confidence with which she has portrayed her part during the first week of her career as an actress is nothing short of wonderful."

Miss Harrison has been cast for a prominent part in "Are You a Mason?" which will be the offering of the Billy Long Stock company next week.

BOISCLAIR REPORTS ON ILLEGAL FISHING

Mayor of Nashville, Who Was One of the Defendants, Led Threatening Crowd, He Says.

Game Warden M. F. Boisclair, who reported to Commissioner Jesse E. Mercer about trouble he had at Milltown regarding alleged illegal fishing has made a full statement about the matter. In his statement he says:

"I went to Milltown and the Banks pond April 22, and for several days I busied myself studying the situation and the people without disclosing my mission or identity.

"Before I made an arrest or announced my mission I realized that there was a conflict and a controversy of long standing between the owners of the Banks pond and mill site, and the people who owned some of the land covered by the water of the pond.

Fish a Great Temptation.

"I soon realized also that the great abundance of fish in the large pond was a sore temptation to the people in that section, many of whom had no rights or claims as to land ownership.

"After I had secured the names and necessary data on which to base prosecution in 19 instances, I probably made the mistake to include in the number two or three parties who may have legal rights in the pond; of this I am not sure, but as a stranger, did what appeared to be my duty in the case.

"There are certainly some very tough and lawless people about the pond, and they, of course, are the instigators of all the trouble.

"As soon as I announced my pupose they set about inflaming the public mind, and I was constantly cautioned that my life was in danger, that I would be shot from ambush or mobbed at night in the home of Mr. Berryhill or assassinated openly on the streets or road. At first I did not take the reports seriously, but I soon realized that there was a sufficient number of the desperate characters to warrant caution on my part.

Folly to Go to Trial.

"I was told by several, at least one of them an official, that the justice of the peace, before whom I had sworn out the warrants, had announced that he would not bind any of the parties over, and I, of course, understood then that it would be folly to go to trial before him.

"When the mayor of Nashville began to abuse me, I did not know who he was, but he was one of the defendants. In a moment after I approached the justice two or three hundred people gathered around where I stood and with the mayor leading the assault on me with gesture and vile epithets, the crowd became menacing. The mayor, realizing that discretion was the only sensible course, he ordered my arrest and the city marshal, standing by, placed me under arrest, and immediately searched me. Nobody had seen my pistol or had reason to believe that I had one

"But for the timely arrival of County Warden T. J. Luke, of Fitzgerald, I would have been put in jail, as they required two names on the bond, and I knew only one man in the crowd.

"At Nashville, after leaving Milltown, I swore out the warrants before the justice in that district, where I am sure the law will be vindicated."

TALKING PICTURES NOW AT THE SAVOY THEATER

Yesterday the Savoy theater inaugurated a new feature, singing and talking pictures, in connection with their regular program. This is the first time Atlanta has had an opportunity to enjoy this feature. If one will concentrate their mind on the picture and forget the mechanical workings that produce such a wonderful affect, he will find a new enjoyment in motion pictures. The words and music harmonize with every action, and especially the movement of the lips. New talking and singing pictures will be shown each day, with no advance in price.

DROP IN TEMPERATURE PROMISED FOR TODAY

Only a few drops of rain fell yesterday when local showers were predicted, but the rainfall, slight as it was, sufficed to cool off the atmosphere, and by 2 o'clock in the afternoon the temperature was down to 78 degrees above zero, which was eight points lower than on the previous day.

No rain is forecasted today, although cooler weather is promised for a day or two. At the same time with the cooler spell in Georgia comes a cool wave in Ohio, due possibly to a region of high temperature passing over the great lakes region.

WHITEHALL OWNERS CONSIDER REGRADING

Everything Points to Success of Movement, Is Report Made.

The Whitehall street property owners who have been at work with the plan to regrade the street between Trinity avenue and Forsyth street reported yesterday that everything now points to success.

The committee appointed by the property owners to look after the details met Wednesday morning and the statement was given out that the small opposition to the big improvement, which cropped out at first, because the plan was not thoroughly understood, is fast dwindling away.

"We now have everything in good shape," stated the chairman of the committee, Robert R. Otis, "and the improvement of Whitehall street is now assured."

When Whitehall is regraded, as proposed, almost the entire street will be opened up for retail trade, and both the lots and the store houses will be greatly increased in value.

V. L., NOT H. M., THE STANLEY THAT WANTS P. O. JOB

V. L. Stanley, a brother of Harris M. Stanley, state commissioner of commerce and labor, is a candidate for the office of postmaster of Dublin, Ga.

But there are some people who think the commissioner is the Stanley who it after the postoffice plum, and every now and then the question is asked him:

"Well, how are you getting along at the Washington pie-counter?"

Commissioner Stanley says he has his hands quite full looking after such of the state's affairs as fall in line with his official duties without getting mixed up in national politics.

CADETS OF THE G. M. A. ENCAMP AT LAKEWOOD

On Monday morning of this week the Georgia Military academy, consisting of three full companies and band, went into camp for the week at Lakewood. This encampment is an annual affair at the academy, and it is always looked forward to with great pleasure by both the cadets and their friends. While a great part of the week is spent in doing military work of a different nature than that done on the campus, yet it is the brightest social week of the school calendar.

On Monday evening, the young ladies from Atlanta and College Park were most delightfully entertained at a dance given in the large pavilion. On Tuesday evening, the Washington seminary was also entertained, and this proved to be most delightful for both schools. On Wednesday evening, the cadets were hosts to the Woodbury school, and on Thursday and Friday the young ladies from the Girls High school and Washington seminary will be invited. On Friday the governor and his staff and the officers of the Fifth regiment will be visitors to the camp. A dress parade will be held on Friday afternoon and the customary salute of seventeen guns will be fired in honor of the governor's presence.

ASK FOR CO-OPERATION OF CHAMBER MEMBERS

In an effort to increase the usefulness of the chamber of commerce, Wilmer L. Moore, president of that body, is sending letters to every member in which is a list of probable undertakings of the chamber, and asking co-operation toward the accomplishment of such.

Among the prominent features are the establishment of an art museum, publicity bureau, a Georgia corn show and especially the development of the railway system about Atlanta.

Since the present administration has been in office, a permanent home has been bought, the work of remodeling which will soon commence, a movement for better city planning has bee put on foot, the convention bureau has been put under way and the industrial bureau will be an established institution within the next few weeks.

FLORIDA WOMAN GETS BIG DAMAGE VERDICT

Mrs. Mattie R. Cash Is Given $7,500 Damages From the S. A. L. Railroad.

In awarding $7,500 damages for personal injuries to Mrs. Mattie R. Cash, of Pensacola, Fla., a jury in the superior court yesterday afternoon rendered what is said to be the largest damage suit of its kind ever made in Fulton county. The suit was against the Seaboard Air Line railway and arose from Mrs. Cash's claim that on December 1, 1911, she slipped and fell upon an orange peel on the Birmingham-Atlanta train near Parsons, Ala.

Mrs. Cash is the wife of Hugh M. Cash, a traveling man, and now that his wife has recovered from the road, Mr. Cash states through her attorney that he will bring suit for the time that she was in the hospital.

The suit, which has taken up several days before Judge George L. Bell, was hard fought on both sides and it is possible now that the railroad will fight it in higher courts. Mrs. Cash was represented by Attorneys Hewlett & Dennis and J. J. Hastings, while W. G. Loying was counsel for the Seaboard.

The claim of Mrs. Cash is that while she was on the train she stepped upon an orange peel and slipped and fell in such a way as to cause serious internal injuries. She was taken to a hospital in Birmingham after the accident and claims to have suffered severely.

CHAMBER WILL AID TECH CELEBRATION

At a meeting of a special committee in the chamber of commerce yesterday it was recommended that the board of directors direct the chamber of commerce to participate in the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Georgia School of Technology, which will be held during commencement week in Atlanta, June 6 to 11, inclusive.

At this time a number of the old boys will return to their alma mater, and it is thought that one of the largest college celebrations in the history of the state will be held.

Many of the members of the chamber are Tech men, and it is thought that this body will enter into the spirit of the occasion with enthusiasm.

DODD HEIRS MAY FIGHT AGAINST GIFT TO MERCER

Macon, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—Dr. S. Y. Jameson, president of Mercer university, in an address before the student body this morning discussed the $100,000 bequest to the Baptist institution by Mrs. Barbara Dodd, of Atlanta.

Dr. Jameson states that while there is a possibility that the will will be contested by Mrs. Dodd's brother and sister, who were left practically nothing, still under the Georgia law he does not believe they will be successful in breaking the will.

It had been hoped by local Baptists that the money would be in the nature of an endowment fund, but while in Atlanta yesterday, Dr. Jameson learned that the money is to go toward the support of worthy students. The fund will provide tuition and board for about twenty-five students.

SCENE CHANGES TO MONTGOMERY

EDITED BY Dick Jemison

WHIFFS

Is He Sane?

FRANK CHANCE had better be examined as to his sanity, if he made the statement that he would not trade Hal Chase for Ty Cobb or Sam Crawford or both. We always thought pretty highly of Mr. Chance, but such a statement reduces estimation of him 100 per cent, granting, of course, that he has not been misquoted.

Did Not Take Long.

BILL SMITH did not take long in finding out that he would have to strengthen his pitching staff if he expected to stay in the fight. The rest of the team is O. K., but Bill, like every other student of the game realized quickly that if poor pitching was going to kick away games after the attack had won them, the attack would eventually get disgusted and quit too. Thus his hustling for some new twirlers.

Will Improve.

GEORGIA and Tech will tie up in their first game of a four-game series tomorrow. Interest is at fever heat, and if the dope runs true to form, the Red and Black ought to win handily. They have the better hitters and base runners and their pitchers appear to outclass Tech's also. But dope as a general run does not figure very strong when these two are meeting.

Judge Is Coming.

PRESIDENT Kavanaugh, of the Southern league, will be in Atlanta shortly after the Crackers return from the present road trip. Face Georgia Sluggers at Athens This Week

Two Jacket pitchers and a catcher snapped by The Constitution's staff photographer at Grant field during practice this week. These are the men on whom the bulk of the work of trying to stop the University of Georgia team will fall. In the center is Withrington, the hustling little catcher. On the left is "Smokey" Eubanks, who will hurl Friday's game, the first of the series. Pitts will work in the game against them Saturday, playing in the outfield the game that Eubanks pitches. Pitts is also the leading hitter of the Tech team. Jacket fans rely on these three men and Captain Montague as the quartet that will bring home the victories for them.

Gulls Make a Clean Sweep; Brady Wednesday's Victim Daily Home Run Secured

Mobile, Ala., May 7.—(Special.)—Mike Finn's league-leading Gulls made a clean sweep of the series with the Crackers by winning today's game 5 to 3.

Jim Brady, the only unbeaten Atlanta pitcer in the series, was given a good drubbing, besides being wild as all the other pitchers that preceded him during the series.

Robertson, the Gulls' big right-hander, started the game for the locals, but after pitching the first inning and retiring the Crackers in one, two, three order, he was taken ill and had to retire.

Cavet Twirls Well.

Pug Cavet twirled the remainder of the game for the locals and with the exception of the fifth inning, held the Crackers helpless. Three of their four hits came in this round and they scored all of their runs.

Cavet had the honor of hitting the daily home run of the Gulls, poling a fast one of Brady's over the right field fence.

No features of any moment marked the contest.

Brady walked Stock to start the game. Starr got a life on Bisland's error. After O'Dell and Jacobsen had been retired, Brady failed to locate the plate for Clark and Robertson and a run was forced over the plate.

Schmidt singled to center to start the Gulls' second. Cavet beat out an infield hit and when Smith threw wild to first Schmidt scored.

With one gone in the third, Clark walked, stole second and went to third on Graham's bad throw to second to catch him. Robertson walked and stole second and both men scored when Campbell singled.

Crackers' Big Round.

Welchonce opened the Crackers' fifth by beating out a slow one to third. Smith singled to center. Bisland doubled, scoring Welchonce and sending Smith to third. Rohe sacrificed out to right, Smith scoring, and Graham duplicated Rohe's stunt, scoring Bisland.

The final run of the game was made in the sixth inning, when Cavet hit one over the fence in right field.

WADDELL SUFFERS FROM BLOOD POISON

Minneapolis, Minn., May 7.—"Rube" Waddell, veteran ball player, who recently announced he had quit professional baseball forever, is suffering from blood poison in his right leg. Waddell received a slight bruise on his knee while playing with the Minneapolis team of the Northern league, here Friday. Today a physician said Waddell was in a serious condition, but that the leg would not necessarily be amputated.

MUST FURNISH SEATS AT ALL BALL GAMES

Chicago, May 7.—State Senator Beall's bill demanding that seats must be furnished to all ticket-holders at baseball games passed the senate at Springfield today.

The bill is aimed chiefly at President Murphy, of the local National league team, at whose grounds Senator Beall was unable to get the seats called for by his coupon.

Murphy left today for New York to attend the Cub-Brooklyn games tomorrow and Friday.

Eubanks To Face Corley In Georgia-Tech Battle; Red and Black Favorites

By Dick Jemison.

The Japanese question, the Phagan case, the tariff measure and other world-wide events, pale into insignificance in interest beside the great Georgia-Tech baseball games which begin at Athens tomorrow afternoon.

The Classic city is all ago over the approaching games. Atlanta college fans are on the anxious seat, especially those whose leanings are toward the Yellow Jackets.

The series looms up as the one big event of the present moment. Every other happening has a batting average of .000 when lined up against it.

Eubanks v. Corley.

"Smoey" Eubanks and "Kid" Corley will be the opposing twirlers in Friday's game from all indications, though the rival coaches may switch their plans at the last moment. The switch would be Pitts for Tech and Morris for Georgia, though the chances are that they will work Saturday's game. At any rate they will be held in reserve.

Tech enters the series a 1 to 2 shot. All the edge veers to the Red and Black. In every department of play they size up as having it on the Jacket contigent.

But every since Tech and Georgia have battled on the field of sportdom, the dope written in advance of any series, no matter how strongly it has favored, one or the other has always had a kink put in it.

This year looks like the exception. The Red and Black must take a horrible slump in these games to show poorly. But on the other hand, the Jackets are playing a 50 per cent improved article of baseball over their early season showing.

Up to Pitchers.

After all, the series rests on two factors—the pitchers and the stability of the teams.

If both teams keep on the ground and their pitchers hurl the kind of ball that their team mates expect them to hurl, the series is going down in baseball history as the greatest college series of baseball ever fought out in Georgia.

The tremendous hitting of the Red and Black team must not be discounted. Tech has an outside chance, only on the ability of her pitchers, Eubanks and Pitts, to stop the Georgians with a reasonable degree of thoroughness. If the Georgia batters pummel the sphere in these games as viciously as they have been hammering it for the past seven games—good night.

Presuming that both teams played to their true form in their last two series, a comparison of what they did in those might be of interest to the fans of the two teams.

Tech trounced Sewanee twice, and in doing so compiled ten hits in each game, while here pitchers held the Tigers to four hits and five hits.

Georgia walloped Washington and Lee twice, compiling 13 hits and 12 hits, while her pitchers held the Virginians to 2 hits and 4 hits.

Not much to choose here—is there?

Series Looks Close.

Arguing, therefore, that this is the true form of the two teams, then the series this close in advance sizes up as a real bear cat, with both pitchers hurling a splendid article of ball and the batters of both teams striving their utmost to deliver the wallops.

The batters of both teams face much better pitching in these four games than they have tackled in the last few games they have played, and this must be discounted somewhat in figuring the outcome of the series.

Reverting to the dope, however, again, Corley and Morris have a better chance of stopping the Tech batters than Eubanks and Pitts have of stopping the Georgia sluggers.

This is explained in this way. But two Jackets are batting over .300, while with the exception of one man, every Georgia regular is in the select circle.

For the sake of argument. Presume that the pitchers are able to stop the rain of hits and the games develop into pitcher's battles. The answer will then be—

STABILITY.

The team that stays on the ground will win the series.

Georgia ought to win the series and the southern title. An even break for the Jackets would be a moral victory.

The team that gets the jump in the first game can be played straight across the board to win.

Newnan 7, LaGrange 6.

Newnan, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—Newnan took the third and last game of the present series from LaGrange this afternoon by the score of 7 to 6. The game was more ragged than the two preceding ones, but was marked again by terrific slugging of the locals, who connected safely thirteen times off the delivery of one Mr. Beasley, late of Mobile. Newnan opens in Opelika tomorrow for a three-game series, returning Monday to meet Talladega. Three straight games from the strong LaGrange team have given the locals a world of confidence and they expect to keep at the top of the ladder. Batteries: Newnan—Collins, Bekely and Burden; LaGrange—Beasley and Donaldson. Hits, Newnan 13, LaGrange 8. Errors, Newnan 3, LaGrange 2.

Crackers Play Billies; Price To Pitch Opener; Bailey To Rejoin Team

THE CRACKERS' showing of an even break on the present road trip is all that can be expected. They have eleven more games before coming back home. They ought to break even with Montgomery and take the odd game at New Orleans and Memphis, provided, of course, some pitchers are secured that can keep the opposition from making from six to ten runs a game. The team can be expected to grab off a good share of hits and runs, if the pitchers will only check the opposition. their first game of a four-game senot figure very strong when these hit the night train for Montgomery, where they open a series with the Billikens of Johnny Dobbs this afternoon.

The contests will be staged for four days, the concluding game of the series being set for Sunday. Monday the team opens up in Memphis for four games, then go to New Orleans for three and back home again.

Gilbert Price, the Crackers' southpaw, will draw the hurling assignment in the opening battle this afternoon with Joe Dunn behind the bat.

Harry Bailey will probably join his teammates in Billikenville this afternoon, his injured foot having mended sufficiently to permit him to put his weight on it and he thinks that he will be able to play, although he will probably limp a little for a few days.

If Bailey does get back in harness, the batting order of the Crackers will be changed again. The folowing is the way the two teams will probably line up:

GEORGIA STATE SHOOT

Americus, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—The first day of annual tournament of the Georgia State Gun club upon the grounds of the Americus Country club today proved a splendid success, resulting in the making of excellent records by many of the forty gunners participating. Among these are many of the crack shots in the United States in the high professional class.

In amateur class, the winners were: G. H. Waddell and J. W. Hightower, who tied with 189 birds out of possible 200. J. M. Barrett, E. H. Eubanks and Henry Jones tied with 188 birds each out of possible 200. Those handsome trophies will be awarded upon the result of the shooting tomorrow.

SCENE CHANGES TO MONTGOMERY

EDITED BY Dick Jemison

WHIFFS

Is He Sane?

FRANK CHANCE had better be examined as to his sanity, if he made the statement that he would not trade Hal Chase for Ty Cobb or Sam Crawford or both. We always thought pretty highly of Mr. Chance, but such a statement reduces estimation of him 100 per cent, granting, of course, that he has not been misquoted.

Did Not Take Long.

BILL SMITH did not take long in finding out that he would have to strengthen his pitching staff if he expected to stay in the fight. The rest of the team is O. K., but Bill, like every other student of the game realized quickly that if poor pitching was going to kick away games after the attack had won them, the attack would eventually get disgusted and quit too. Thus his hustling for some new twirlers.

Will Improve.

GEORGIA and Tech will tie up in their first game of a four-game series tomorrow. Interest is at fever heat, and if the dope runs true to form, the Red and Black ought to win handily. They have the better hitters and base runners and their pitchers appear to outclass Tech's also. But dope as a general run does not figure very strong when these two are meeting.

Judge Is Coming.

PRESIDENT Kavanaugh, of the Southern league, will be in Atlanta shortly after the Crackers return from the present road trip. The league head will present to the Crackers the trophy won by the locals the opening day of the season, for the largest paid attendance of the day. Just which game will be set for the presentation is not known just yet.

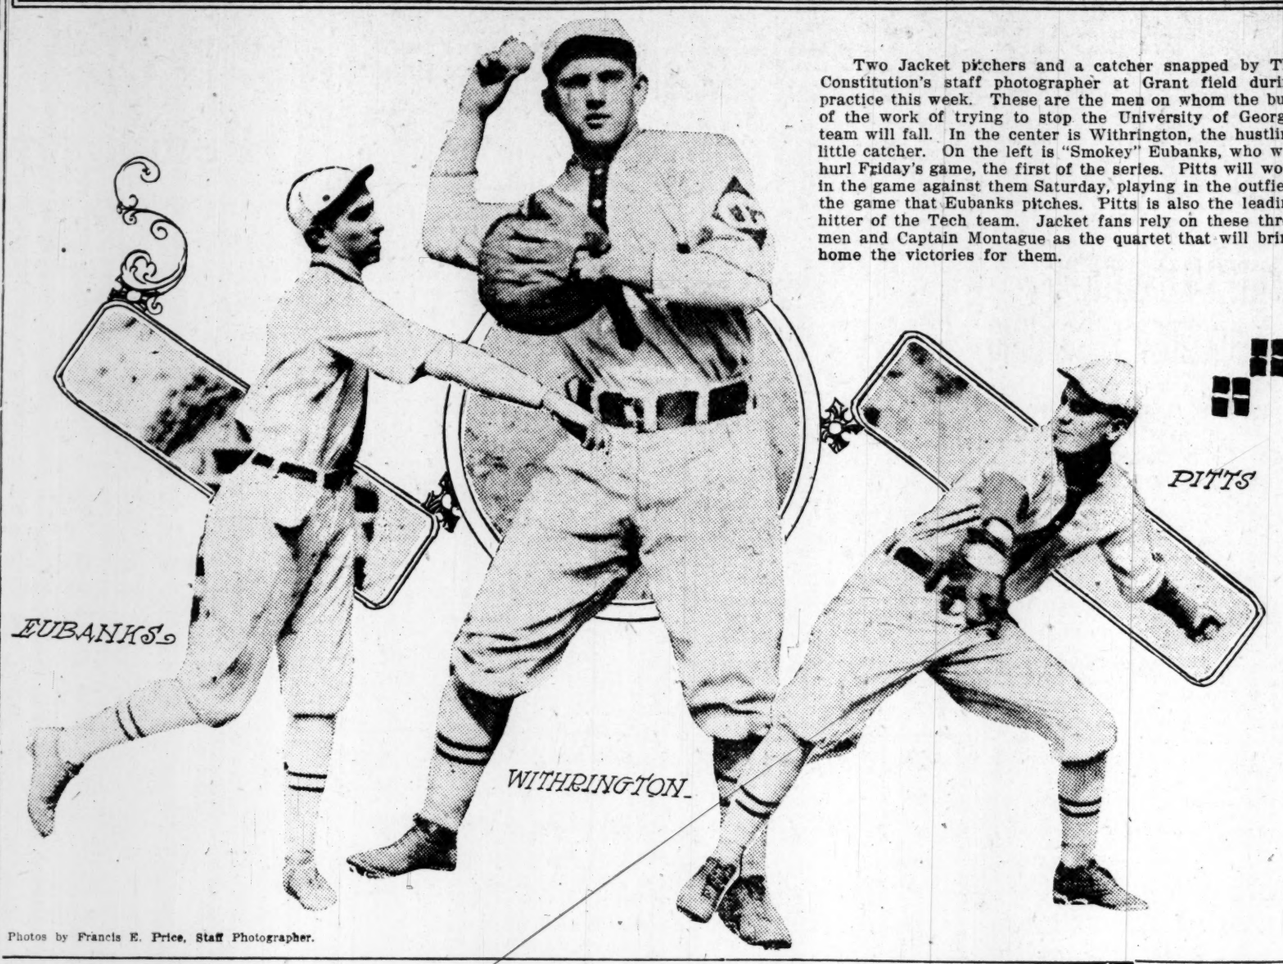
Face Georgia Sluggers at Athens This Week



Photos by Francis E. Price, Staff Photographer.

Two Jacket pitchers and a catcher snapped by The Constitution's staff photographer at Grant field during practice this week. These are the men on whom the bulk of the work of trying to stop the University of Georgia team will fall. In the center is Withrington, the hustling little catcher. On the left is "Smokey" Eubanks, who will hurl Friday's game, the first of the series. Pitts will work in the game against them Saturday, playing in the outfield the game that Eubanks pitches. Pitts is also the leading hitter of the Tech team. Jacket fans rely on these three men and Captain Montague as the quartet that will bring home the victories for them.

Gulls Make a Clean Sweep; Brady Wednesday's Victim Daily Home Run Secured

Mobile, Ala., May 7.—(Special.)—Mike Finn's league-leading Gulls made a clean sweep of the series with the Crackers by winning today's game 5 to 3.

Jim Brady, the only unbeaten Atlanta pitcer in the series, was given a good drubbing, besides being wild as all the other pitchers that preceded him during the series.

Robertson, the Gulls' big right-hander, started the game for the locals, but after pitching the first inning and retiring the Crackers in one, two, three order, he was taken ill and had to retire.

Cavet Twirls Well.

Pug Cavet twirled the remainder of the game for the locals and with the exception of the fifth inning, held the Crackers helpless. Three of their four hits came in this round and they scored all of their runs.

Cavet had the honor of hitting the daily home run of the Gulls, poling a fast one of Brady's over the right field fence.

No features of any moment marked the contest.

Brady walked Stock to start the game. Starr got a life on Bisland's error. After O'Dell and Jacobsen had been retired, Brady failed to locate the plate for Clark and Robertson and a run was forced over the plate.

Schmidt singled to center to start the Gulls' second. Cavet beat out an infield hit and when Smith threw wild to first Schmidt scored.

With one gone in the third, Clark walked, stole second and went to third on Graham's bad throw to second to catch him. Robertson walked and stole second and both men scored when Campbell singled.

Crackers' Big Round.

Welchonce opened the Crackers' fifth by beating out a slow one to third. Smith singled to center. Bisland doubled, scoring Welchonce and sending Smith to third. Rohe sacrificed out to right, Smith scoring, and Graham duplicated Rohe's stunt, scoring Bisland.

The final run of the game was made in the sixth inning, when Cavet hit one over the fence in right field.

WADDELL SUFFERS FROM BLOOD POISON

Minneapolis, Minn., May 7.—"Rube" Waddell, veteran ball player, who recently announced he had quit professional baseball forever, is suffering from blood poison in his right leg. Waddell received a slight bruise on his knee while playing with the Minneapolis team of the Northern league, here Friday. Today a physician said Waddell was in a serious condition, but that the leg would not necessarily be amputated.

MUST FURNISH SEATS AT ALL BALL GAMES

Chicago, May 7.—State Senator Beall's bill demanding that seats must be furnished to all ticket-holders at baseball games passed the senate at Springfield today.

The bill is aimed chiefly at President Murphy, of the local National league team, at whose grounds Senator Beall was unable to get the seats called for by his coupon.

Murphy left today for New York to attend the Cub-Brooklyn games tomorrow and Friday.

Eubanks To Face Corley In Georgia-Tech Battle; Red and Black Favorites

By Dick Jemison.

The Japanese question, the Phagan case, the tariff measure and other world-wide events, pale into insignificance in interest beside the great Georgia-Tech baseball games which begin at Athens tomorrow afternoon.

The Classic city is all ago over the approaching games. Atlanta college fans are on the anxious seat, especially those whose leanings are toward the Yellow Jackets.

The series looms up as the one big event of the present moment. Every other happening has a batting average of .000 when lined up against it.

Eubanks v. Corley.

"Smoey" Eubanks and "Kid" Corley will be the opposing twirlers in Friday's game from all indications, though the rival coaches may switch their plans at the last moment. The switch would be Pitts for Tech and Morris for Georgia, though the chances are that they will work Saturday's game. At any rate they will be held in reserve.

Tech enters the series a 1 to 2 shot. All the edge veers to the Red and Black. In every department of play they size up as having it on the Jacket contigent.

But every since Tech and Georgia have battled on the field of sportdom, the dope written in advance of any series, no matter how strongly it has favored, one or the other has always had a kink put in it.

This year looks like the exception. The Red and Black must take a horrible slump in these games to show poorly. But on the other hand, the Jackets are playing a 50 per cent improved article of baseball over their early season showing.

Up to Pitchers.

After all, the series rests on two factors—the pitchers and the stability of the teams.

If both teams keep on the ground and their pitchers hurl the kind of ball that their team mates expect them to hurl, the series is going down in baseball history as the greatest college series of baseball ever fought out in Georgia.

The tremendous hitting of the Red and Black team must not be discounted. Tech has an outside chance, only on the ability of her pitchers, Eubanks and Pitts, to stop the Georgians with a reasonable degree of thoroughness. If the Georgia batters pummel the sphere in these games as viciously as they have been hammering it for the past seven games—good night.

Presuming that both teams played to their true form in their last two series, a comparison of what they did in those might be of interest to the fans of the two teams.

Tech trounced Sewanee twice, and in doing so compiled ten hits in each game, while here pitchers held the Tigers to four hits and five hits.

Georgia walloped Washington and Lee twice, compiling 13 hits and 12 hits, while her pitchers held the Virginians to 2 hits and 4 hits.

Not much to choose here—is there?

Series Looks Close.

Arguing, therefore, that this is the true form of the two teams, then the series this close in advance sizes up as a real bear cat, with both pitchers hurling a splendid article of ball and the batters of both teams striving their utmost to deliver the wallops.

The batters of both teams face much better pitching in these four games than they have tackled in the last few games they have played, and this must be discounted somewhat in figuring the outcome of the series.

Reverting to the dope, however, again, Corley and Morris have a better chance of stopping the Tech batters than Eubanks and Pitts have of stopping the Georgia sluggers.

This is explained in this way. But two Jackets are batting over .300, while with the exception of one man, every Georgia regular is in the select circle.

For the sake of argument. Presume that the pitchers are able to stop the rain of hits and the games develop into pitcher's battles. The answer will then be——

STABILITY.

The team that stays on the ground will win the series.

Georgia ought to win the series and the southern title. An even break for the Jackets would be a moral victory.

The team that gets the jump in the first game can be played straight across the board to win.

Newnan 7, LaGrange 6.

Newnan, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—Newnan took the third and last game of the present series from LaGrange this afternoon by the score of 7 to 6. The game was more ragged than the two preceding ones, but was marked again by terrific slugging of the locals, who connected safely thirteen times off the delivery of one Mr. Beasley, late of Mobile. Newnan opens in Opelika tomorrow for a three-game series, returning Monday to meet Talladega. Three straight games from the strong LaGrange team have given the locals a world of confidence and they expect to keep at the top of the ladder. Batteries: Newnan—Collins, Bekely and Burden; LaGrange—Beasley and Donaldson. Hits, Newnan 13, LaGrange 8. Errors, Newnan 3, LaGrange 2.

Crackers Play Billies; Price To Pitch Opener; Bailey To Rejoin Team

THE CRACKERS' showing of an even break on the present road trip is all that can be expected. They have eleven more games before coming back home. They ought to break even with Montgomery and take the odd game at New Orleans and Memphis, provided, of course, some pitchers are secured that can keep the opposition from making from six to ten runs a game. The team can be expected to grab off a good share of hits and runs, if the pitchers will only check the opposition. their first game of a four-game senot figure very strong when these hit the night train for Montgomery, where they open a series with the Billikens of Johnny Dobbs this afternoon.

The contests will be staged for four days, the concluding game of the series being set for Sunday. Monday the team opens up in Memphis for four games, then go to New Orleans for three and back home again.

Gilbert Price, the Crackers' southpaw, will draw the hurling assignment in the opening battle this afternoon with Joe Dunn behind the bat.

Harry Bailey will probably join his teammates in Billikenville this afternoon, his injured foot having mended sufficiently to permit him to put his weight on it and he thinks that he will be able to play, although he will probably limp a little for a few days.

If Bailey does get back in harness, the batting order of the Crackers will be changed again. The folowing is the way the two teams will probably line up:

VALDOSTA TEAM SIGNS JORDAN

Prince Otto Is to Manage and Play Second Base for the Empire State League Club.

Otto Jordan, the prince of second sackers in the Southern league, has been signed by the Valdosta owners of the Empire State league team representing that city, and will assume the managerial reins of that club Friday.

The Valdosta owners have been dickering with Otto for some time. Jordan submitted his proposition and last night the owners accepted his proposition, much to his surprise and delight.

Otto will leave here this morning for Valdosta to take charge of the team.

Otto proposes to play at his old position, second base, and that he will be the best keystone guardian of the league goes without saying. He was that in this league, so why shouldn't he be in the State league?

Watch that Valdosta club start climbing now.

Athletics 3, Browns 2.

St. Louis, Mo., May 7.—Philadelphia beat St. Louis today, 3 to 2. Brown and Mitchell pitched good ball, but each had one bad inning. In the first inning, Brown walked three St. Louis batsmen, but Lapp threw out two runners who tried to steal, pulling him out of a bad hole. Philadelphia scored in the first inning when Murphy walked and went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Oldring's single. Collins also walked and scored on McInnis' single. Baker scored in the fourth when he hit a home run into the right field bleachers. St. Louis scored two runs in the fourth when Austin duplicated Baker's home run, after Brief had singled.

Detroit, May 7.—Keating, the recruit who won the only two other games New York has captured this season, allowed Detroit but two hits. On several occasions his support wobbled, but sharp fielding came to his assistance when it was needed most. Mullin was hit hard only in the second and fifth, Detroit's errors helping New York to gain several of their tallies. Zamloch, who replaced the veteran in the eighth, began his major league career by fanning Sweeney and he held the visitors scoreless.

Cobb, who declared a severe headache affected his eyesight, struck out twice and then retired from the game. In the last half of the third, Mullin collided with Midkiff at third base, knocking the latter senseless, but Midkiff returned to his post after being revived.

Senators 3, White Sox 2.

Chicago, May 7.—Washington today defeated Chicago in the opening game of the series 3 to 2. The locals took an early lead when a single and two errors gave them one run, but on a fielder's choice, an error and a triple by McBride, the visitors took the lead, and then added another run on a pass, a stolen base and a single. Chicago managed to get their second run on a base on balls, a hit, a sacrifice and error. Hughes was in fine form, holding the locals to six scattered hits. Cicotte retired to let Easterly bat for him, and when Lange took up the pitching the visitors were unable to do anything with him, getting three scattered hits in five innings.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 7.—Boston, the first of the eastern clubs to play on the local grounds this season, was defeated today 4 to 1. Cy Falkenburg won his fifth consecutive game. Five of the Boston regulars were unable to be in the game because of injuries.

Boston's only score came in the fourth on doubles by Engle and Janvrin. In the scond, with men on second and third, Falkenberg struck out three of the next four batters, purposely passing Carrigan.

Cleveland's scoring started in the second when Graney hit for two bases, scoring Jackson and Birmingham.

Wolgast v. Dundee.

San Francisco, May 7—Ad Wolgast's manager replied today to a telegram from a Los Angeles fight promoter asking him if the former lightweight champion would meet Johnny Dundee, of New York, in a twenty-round bout in that city June 3. The manager said Ad would meet Dundee at catch weights.

Phillies 4, Cardinals 3.

Philadelphia, May 7.—By playing a fine up-hill game, Philadelphia defeated St. Louis today by 4 to 3, when Paskert scored in the tenth inning on his single, Knabe's sacrifice and Lobert's double. St. Louis took a three-run lead in the second inning on four singles and two errors. After that three double plays prevented them from scoring, while they failed to tally in the sixth inning, after filling the bases with none out, through Oakes' being caught off third on an attempted squeeze play.

Giants 6, Reds 4.

New York, May 7.—New York again defeated the Cincinnatis here today, the score being 6 to 4, Benton was wild and was hit hard. He was relieved by Packard, a young lefthander, who twirled a wonderful game after the third. The Giants did not get a hit off the youngster after that inning. Ames was wild and ineffective, and was relieved with the bases full in the second inning. Mathewson stopped the Reds in this inning, but was hit fairly hard, Cincinnati scoring three runs on him on clean hitting. Shafer played a great game for New York at short, accepting twelve chances without an error.

Score:	R.	H.	E.

Cubs 4, Dodgers 3.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 7.—Chicago stopped Brooklyn's winning streak today, taking another sensational battle by a score of 4 to 3. Remarkable fielding on both sides kept down the runs. Cutshaw and Bridwell divided the honors. Cutshaw prevented two Chicago runs in the fifth inning, by rushing over and taking Archer's hot grounder that went through Daubert, and tossing the runner out to Allen, who covered first. Bridwell saved the game for Chicago in the eighth, when, with two men on the paths, he made a brilliant one-handed stop of Smith's torrid smash, which looked good for two bases. Bresnahan got a home run on a drive, which hit the concrete fence and carromed away from Wheat. Dahlon brought out nearly all of his reserves in the seventh and ninth, using sixteen players in all.

Score:	R.	H.	E.

Doves 2, Pirates 1.

Boston, May 7.—Boston won another extra inning game from Pittsburg today, the score being 2 to 1, the winning run coming in the twelfth. It was a pitchers' battle between O'Toole and Tyler, the latter having the better of the argument.

Pittsburg's single run was due to an error by Sweeney, Wilson scoring when the former dropped Whaling's throw to get Butler, who had started to steal. Boston tied the score in the fifth, when Whaling was hit and got around on singles by Maranville and Myers.

Each time had several opportunities to make another run, but strong pitching and fielding always prevented, until the final inning. Tyler began it by singling.

Maranville singled and went to third on Myer's drive to center. Connolly put a high one to left, and Carey muffed the ball, Maranville scoring.

CLEMSON TIGERS TO PLAY AUBURN

Second Place Ranking in the S. I. A. A. Will Be Decided by Series Which Begins Today.

Auburn, Ala., May 7.—(Special.)—Auburn plays her seventh and last series on the campus this week, when the championship of Carolina, the Clemson Tigers, who have just won, come to Auburn for a three-game series.

The games ought to be close and the pitching duel between Davis and Ezel ought to be an interesting one. Davis, after being crippled most of the season with a bad ankle, is again rounding into shape, and while a little slow yet in fielding his position is getting better every day.

Auburn so far has played six series and has won them all except the one in Athens in which the odd game was lost to the strong Georgia team. Inexperienced pitchers were in the main responsible for the loss of two out of three in that series.

Sine then Auburn has won eight out of nine S. I. A. A. games, including such teams as Mercer, Florida and Georgia Tech. The team put up the poorest article of ball of the year against Tech, though there was still that same ability which has been characteristic of the team all year to shove a run across when it was absolutely necessary.

A victory over Clemson would round out a very good season from the Auburn standpoint, much better than was anticipated. Most of the games have been played away from home, and only two have been lost.

If Auburn defeats Clemson second place is the worst that can befall the Auburnites, and, if by any chance Tech should defeat Georgia or even tie them, then Auburn could put in a very strong claim to be among the elect on the first ring of the ladder.

SOUTH ATLANTIC.

Indians 6, Peaches 4.

Macon, Ga., May 7.—Prysock's failure to return the throw to home plate when the double steal was started in the sixth and his failure to throw in the relay from Matthews, who made a pretty catch, with a runner on third, allowed Savannah to score the two winning runs today 6 to 4. Up to the sixth inning the score was tied 4 to 4. Prysock did well with the willow, getting a home run and two singles.

Babies 5, Scouts 4.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 7.—Albany won a seesaw contest from Jacksonville this afternoon, the score at the finish being 5 to 4. There was plenty of hitting and the fans were kept at fever heat excitement until the finish. Albany scored twice in the ninth and in Jacksonville's part of the inning with none on the bases, Grover hit to the center fiel dfence for a home run. Jacksonville used two pitchers in the outfield, Cruise and Carroll still being on the injured list. Score:

Foxes 5, Gulls 1.

Charleston, S. C., May 7.—Columbus won the final game of the series this afternoon from the Sea Gulls in a well-played game, 5 to 1. James Ward, a cast-off from the St. Louis Nationals, who reported to the visitors Monday, pitched brilliant ball. He was invincible in the pinches. In the ninth, with the bases full and one out, he retired the side on pop flies. Muster, a left-hander who joined the local club recently, made a creditable showing notwithstanding the fact that he allowed the Foxes to bunch hits. The only three bases stolen during the series were made today by Hoey for the locals and Moore, two, for the invaders. Two double plays by Charleston featured.

Valdosta 6, Thomasville 4.

Thomasville, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—Valdosta took the third game of the series by a score of 6 to 4, Winges winning again against Thomasville and outpitching his rival Elrod. The hits were many, Valdosta getting 12 and Thomasville 10. Sharp fielding by Murphy and Champlin featured for Thomasville, Roth again hitting two safeties in three times at the bat. Frank knocked a home run in the first inning; six of the hits of his teammates, however, were of the scratch variety.

Both teams kicked lustily on the umpire's decisions. Thomasville has released Rooney, pitcher, and Pierre, catcher, to Valdosta, and they play in Cordele tomorrow.

Brunswick 8, Waycross 5.

Waycross, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—Home Run Walker, of Brunswick, who lost his game yesterday by errors of his team, came back strong today. He did not pitch, but he got two home runs, scoring five of Brunswick's eight runs. Two fast double plays by Waycross with the bases filled kept Brunswick from piling up the score. Wiggins relieved Hawkins, and kept his hits so well scattered that Waycross was not able to score but once, although Waycross got a total of fifteen hits during the game. The playing of both teams was better than in any game yet played, only one error being made. Anderson, of Douglas, and Holliday, a former Tech player, were unusually good today, both being new men for Waycross.

Americus 10, Cordele 4.

Americus, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—The Americus contingent secured a lucky run this afternoon, and redeemed itself in defeating Cordele easily, by the score of 10 to 4. Ha. and "Baby" Wilder did the principal box work for the Cordele team, but were not found invincible. Pruitt, for Americus, did excellent work in the box. Humphries, one of Cordele's catchers, was painfully injured while at the bat by a pitched ball, striking him upon the head. He was sent to the hospital here for treatment, though his injury is not regarded as serious. The locals played in better form today and feel equal to the task of tackling Waycross here tomorroy.

JOHNSON USED WOMEN AS SPARRING PARTNERS

Witnesses Tell of Brutality of Negro Pugilist at His Trial for Violating Mann Act.

Chicago, May 7.—White women who associated with Jack Johnson, negro heavyweight champion of the world, were used as sparring partners, according to charges of government attorneys today in the trial of Johnson, charged with violation of the Mann law.

Harry A. Parkin, assistant district attorney, declared the evidence would show that Johnson directed his fistic accomplishments against the women.

"As a result of his treatment of these girls," Mr. Parkin said, "they were frequently sent to hospitals with blackened eyes and bruised bodies."

Mr. Parkin, in addressing the jury, declared that he would introduce evidence to show the character of Johnson. He said he would bring out detrimental facts which occurred previously to his fight at Reno in 1909, and would prove that while playing a vaudevill engagement he was living with three white girls in the same city and that he took them about the country with him. These women, he declared, were Belle Screiber, a girl named "Hattie" and Etta Duryea, whom Johnson later married and who subsequently killed herself while despondent over the ignominy of her life with the negro.

W. Jacobowski, Johnson's chauffeur, was the first witness. He told of Johnson's meeting Belle Schreiber, the woman he is charged with having transported from Pittsburg to Chicago, in Cleveland, and again in Detroit, and of Johnson having sent his automobile to take the woman from a hotel to the theater where Johnson was appearing.

Lillian Henderson, of Pittsburg, the second witness, told of Belle Schreiber's leaving Pittsburg in August, 1910.

The Boys' High nine added another game to their list of Prep League victories yesterday afternoon on the Marist campus by defeating the Marist team 13 to 4.

The game was close and interesting up until the fifth, when the High school boys got busy with their bats, and from then on the only question was how large the score would be, as they hit hard and often with men on bases.

Callahan twirled a great game up until the fifth inning. Up to this time not a single High school man reached first base, and he also fanned the first six me nto face him. He apparently wore himself out in doing this, as after the fifth, the High school players hit him all over the lot. Harrison and Wrigley starred with the bat, securing two hits apiece.

Fox pitched a grand game for the High school. He gave up four hits in the first two innings, but after this he settled down and had the Marist batters at his mercy. He kept his opponents' hits widely scattered, in addition to making fourteen whiff the air. Armstead led the High school swatters with three bingles. Lipscomb and Weaver also played star ball.

NOTED FRENCH FENCERS FIGHT DESPERATE DUEL

Paris, May 7.—A sword duel arising out of a quarrel three years ago was fought today between H. C. Berger, son of a Paris deputy, and George Breittmayer, both noted fencers. Berger received a serious wound in the right breast.

As under the French law no duel may be fought in secret, the combat at the Chateau d'Orly was witnessed by fifty well-known Parisians and a large body of reporters.

Breittmayer afterward visited his wounded opponent and reconciliation was effected.

The duel had been delayed owing to the marriage of Berger. A short time ago he quarreled with another man and challenged him to fight, but according to the French code of honor the duel could not be fought until he had first crossed swords with Breittmayer. The second duel will take place as soon as Berger has recovered.

To Register Lobbyists.

Washington, May 7.—Registration of lobbyists in congress was proposed in a bill today by Representative Charles B. Smith, of New York. A similar bill has been introduced by Senator Kenyon.

Furchner Bought; Chappelle Signed; Bausewein Fired

Manager Billy, Disgusted With Work of Players, Slips Fine to Some of Them.

Pitcher Al Furchner was signed today by the Crackers, and left with the team for Montgomery. He was formerly with Sioux City, in the Western league, and was brought here for a try-out by Manager Finn. Bill Chappelle, as was predicted by The Constitution, was also added to the staff today.

The Mobile manager has permitted Furchner to leave, owing to the splendid showing of the present staff. Manager Finn believes that he will make the Crackers a good man.

Pitcher George Bausewein was released by Manager Smith today, and sent back to the Charlotte, Carolina association club, from whom he was purchased.

Pitchers Brady and Price and Catcher Graham are reported to have been fined $25 by Manager Smith, but the latter would not admit this tonight.

Manager Smith is very much disgusted with the showing of his pitchers in the series with the Gulls, and intimates that unless there is a marked improvement in the work of the remaining members of the staff, they will follow Bausewein.

Chappelle Is Signed.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 7—(Special) Chappelle leaves tomorrow to report to Bill Smith in Montgomery. He has been working out daily since being left at home by Elberfeld and is ready to go in. The big pitcher claims that much of his lack of effectiveness this spring has been due to not using his spitter, the saliva ball being his principal asset. He got away badly with it and then Streat and Elberfeld refused to let him use it. Chappelle was anxious to play with Atlanta and begged for the deal to be made.

Ban Lifted From Britton.

Philadelphia, May 7.—Director of Public Safety Porter announced tonight that he had removed the ban placed on Jack Britton after Britton's fight with Pal Moore two weeks ago. The director said that a conference with Britton's manager and a group of New York fight experts had convinced him that Britton "did not fake to any great extent and can fight here when he pleases." Under the director's orders Moore still is barred from fighting in this city for his part in the Britton matc.., but Mr. Porter said he "might lift the ban later on."

MAN KILLED EVERY DAY BY NEW YORK GUNMEN

New York, May 7.—Gunmen of the east side killed their fifth man within four days today. He was Antonio Scamorino, formerly of Dayton, Ohio. The assassin used a shotgun, firing from the shadow of a doorway, and escaped. The four other recent murders include that of David Minser, shot during the rush hour last night by three gangsters on the Williamsburg bridge.

RED SOX AND THE NAPS ENGAGE IN FISTICUFFS

Melee in the Clubhouse in Which Fourteen or Fifteen Players Take Part.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 7.—Various incidents of accident and roughness in the Boston-Cleveland American league game today caused some ill feeling which culminated a melee in the club house after the game, in which fourteen or fifteen players of both clubs were engaged, according to a report tonight.

Outfielder Graney was stunned for a moment when Pitcher Leonard tagged Graney on the forehead while putting him out at home. Various accusations of abusive language on the coaching lines and intentional roughness were made by both teams.

Immediately after the game, it is said, a Cleveland player and a Boston player came to blows in the club house because of some abusive language which each claimed the other had used. After a dozen or more players of both teams had entered the argument, some as peacemakers, the difference was settled with no very lasting damage done.

TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP CAPTURED BY CLEMSON

Victorious in Singles and Doubles—Erwin and Erwin Won for Clemson.

Columbia, S. C., May 7.—Clemson college today won the championship in singles and in doubles in the southern intercollegiate tennis championship, which closed here today. J. W. Erwin and J. O. Erwin, representing Clemson in the doubles, defeated Oates and Chambers, of North Carolina, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4.

In the singles J. O. Erwin, of Clemson, defeated Oates, of North Carolina, in straight sets, 6-4, 7-5, 6-3.

BRIDE AND DIAMONDS STRANGELY MISSING

San Francisco, May 7.—A search of all the bay cities was begun early today for Mrs. Robert Saxe, 18 years old, bride of two weeks. Mrs. Saxe left her home yesterday morning to go shopping, taking $2,000 worth of diamonds to be cleaned by a jeweler. The police are working on a theory that Mrs. Saxe was murdered.

REAL ESTATE AS AN INVESTMENT
THERE IS NONE BETTER. Stocks may go up or down. The oil wells may run dry. The mine may be a hole in the ground, with the ore existing in someone's imagination only. The stock in the new aeroplane company may look pretty, but will the machine fly?
The man who puts his money into real estate is safe. And he is certain of returns. He is free, too. He can go to bed secure in the knowledge that the earth will be there when he wakes next day. If any portion of his investment be represented by buildings, his insurance protects him.
A sensible investor in real estate puts his money in home ground, where he can watch his investment and make the most of it. There are more fortunes being made in Atlanta real estate than the most brilliant dreamer could picture. Anyone with funds to invest can make no better disposition of them than to invest them in carefully selected real estate here in the Capital City. Few of America's cities offer so flattering a future as Atlanta. Canny investors realize this, and are buying Atlanta ground NOW. In these columns you will find the latest and best offers in real estate every day. READ.

INDUSTRIAL WORKERS ACCUSED OF ANARCHY

Paterson, N. J., May 7.—The first of the trials of Industrial Workers of the World leaders, arrested on charges growing out of the silk mill strike riots, was begun today when Patrick Quinlan, accused of preaching anarchy, faced the bar. William D. Haywood, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Carlo Tresca and Adolph Lessig will also be tried separately, the prosecutor announced.

Quinlan, according to this indictment, the first of four pending against him, addressed a meeting of strikers the day they walked out, February 25, and urged them to parade to a silk mill and "bring the scabs" out of the building. On that day there were riots. Prosecutor Dunn told the jury today that Quinlan used violent and incendiary language and has been a ring leader since the strike was begun. Several police officers, including Chief Bimson, testified for the state today. They heard Quinlan speak an hour prior to the mill rioting, they swore. Tomorrow, other officers and citizens will be called to give similar testimony. The state will seek to prove that strikers went to the mills and caused disorder immediately after being addressed by Quinlan. The defense has indicated that an alibi will be offered. Quinlan's counsel contends Quinlan did not arrive here until about the time the riot began.

Robison Is Out Again.—Charles S. Robison, president of the Robison Furniture company, with places on East Hunter and South Pryor streets, and who has been a patient at the Grady hospital for nearly two months, is now able to be on the streets for a short time, though he is yet evtremely weak.

MYSTERY STILL SHROUDS AFFAIR OF MRS. ELLIS

Cordele, Ga., May 7.—(Special.)—The theory that Mrs. W. K. Ellis jumped from the sleeper of an Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic train early yesterday morning at Ross in an attempt to commit suicide now appears probable as being correct. Though the affair is still shrouded in mystery, she has been very despondent since her confinement at the sanitarium here and still refuses to divulge the place of her residence. It is thought now that she has not given her correct name.

In a statement today she clings fast to her last story of yesterday, that she was traveling with her husband, though she says that they had been separated. A burden seems to be weighing heavily on her mind. It is thought by railroad officials that they have located the man who held the other ticket to the double berth occupied by the woman and who left the train and walked to Fitzgerald. There are conflicting reports as to the man's name, though it is known that it is not Ellis.

According to official reports the train was running not less than 35 miles an hour at the point where Mrs. Ellis states that she fainted and fell from the platform. The report of yesterday that both doors of the sleeper were locked between Montezuma and Cordele is reiterated today.

New York, May 7.—An increased demand in Liverpool on the spot and a demand from the continent for forward delivery kept that market steady at above a parity with a close. Some complaints are coming from the Atlantic states, because of the lack of rain and cotton not coming up. These factors caused the advance in our market, as the sentiment was so bearish that when one or two traders bought the market quickly responded. Many of yesterday's sellers became buyers. While the sentiment is bearish they are surprised at the demand from the continent, where spinners have allowed their stocks to decline since the efderation figures of stocks on March 1, which, at the time, were less than last year. The support to the market comes from Europe, and our own spinners continued depressed under the influence of the tariff.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

COTTON MADE ADVANCE ON SHORTS COVERING

There Was Also Considerable Demand for Cotton From Abroad—Spot Steady.

New York, May 7.—The cotton market was higher today, on covering and a fair scattering demand, which seemed to be promoted by apprehensions of drouth damage in the eastern belt, and the less favorable acreage of private crop reports. Closing prices showed reactions, but the final tone was steady and last prices still showed net gains of from 3 to 11 points.

The market opened firm at an advance of 5 to 9 points, in sympathy with higher Liverpool cables than expected, and active months sold 8 to 9 points net higher right after the call, on covering by some of yesterday's late sellers, who were evidently disappointed by the failure of early weather news to show the showers predicted for the esatern belt yesterday. Realizing and sellers for a turn, on rumored showers in northwest Alabama, caused reactions of 4 to 5 points shortly after the call, but the official eastern belt forecast was for continued clear and cooler weather, and prices soon firmed up again.

In addition to covering there appeared to be considerable demand from abroad as well as support from local bulls or reactionists and there were numerous private reports from east of the river indicating that cotton was getting a poor stand, owing to low temperatures and dry weather. Moreover, reiterated prediction of large shipments from the local stock were colored, to some extent, by the fact that the certificated supply here has already lost 11,000 bales since the end of April and, with trade accounts from the continent more optimistic, there was also talg of a considerable July short interest still outstanding in the local market.

After showing a net advance of from 14 to 16 points, however, the market turned easier, under renewed reports of rains in Alabama, unfavorable private spot advices from Vicksburg and Memphis, realizing by early buyers, and considerable southern selling. Closing prices were 6 to 7 points off from the best in consequence, but offerings were well taken at the decline.

Cotton spot closed steady; middling uplands, 12.00; middling gulf, 12.25; sales, 528 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, May 7.—The cotton market had a steady undertone today, with sentiment less bearish than for some time past. Professional traders were more inclined to take the long side, but they were satisfied with very moderate profits and their realizing checked the upward movement in the afternoon session. Shorts were inclined to cover, on complaints of low temperatures over a large part of the belt and the continued lack of moisture in the Atlantic states. No great volume of business was done and the market wore a waiting appearance at times.

The opening was steady at an advnce of 2 to 6 points, on much better cbles than looked for. The weather map was not called any too favorable and a small demand served to hold prices up. The market gradually rose until around noon it stood 12 to 16 points over yesterday's last figures. This was the high level of the day. Buyers of the early hours took their profits and the market fell off, closing steady at a net gain of 8 to 12 points.

The gossip of the market underwent a decided change today, many of the telegrams and letters circulated tending to show that the new crop is getting a much later start than had been expected.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, May 7.—The cotton market seems to be just beginning to realize that the start of the new crop is not perfect. Many complaints of lack of rain in the eastern belt and of seed not sprouting reached the market today, and, as a result, there was considerable nervousness among the shorts in new crop positions. The world will need at least 15,000,000 bales of American cotton this year and, until at least that amount is assured, there seems to be little reason for expecting a runaway bear market in new crop months. Although Wall street is still declined to sell short, there was good support today. July closed 7 points higher than yesterday, while October was up 11 points. The close was steady.

Liverpool is due to come unchanged to one down on near and 1 to 1½ points up on distant position.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, May 7.—Continued dry weather east of the Mississippi, favorable trade advice from Liverpool and a better demand for print cloths here, were the influence that advanced the local market some 15 points today. While the buying came largely from the short interest, there is more inclination to assume commitments for long account around 11 cents for the new crop, based upon the feeling that this price discounts the progress of the new crop to date.

EXPORT SALES CAUSED WHEAT TO STRENGTHEN

July and September Made Gains, but May Closed at Decline.

Chicago, May 7.—Good export sales of wheat today gave strength to a previously weak market. Closing figures showed a net gain of 1-8 for July and September, but May was at a net decline of 1-8@1-4c. Corn scored a net uplift of 3-8@1-2 to 3-4@7-8c; oats finished at a net advance of 1-4@3-8 to 5-8, but provisions closed irregular, 2 1-2 off to 5c up.

The change from weakness to strength in wheat came in the final hour. Reports of export sales last night and today placed the total at 250,000 bushels. When this was made public the market was already recovering somewhat from early weakness, the uplift being helped along by purchases on the part of traders who had oversold. Thereafter considerable activity marked trading, and prices showed firmness, easing off a shade, however, in final figures. Though May picked up some from opening figures, it could not equal the gains of the other months. Early weakness was the outgrowth of continued bearish crop conditions in this country, and because of improved Russian crop prospects, which weakened foreign markets. A report that the Ohio wheat crop held its own last month, and that the Michigan crop gained a point, were fresh features in the domestic situation. Primary wheat receipts today, 703,000 bushels; last year, 355,000. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour equalled 276,000 bushels.

Speculative buying lifted corn. Reports that the Argentine corn harvest was hindered by rains was an additional bullish influence.

Fears of injury to oats by dry weather in Illinois and Indiana, caused the upturn noted in that market.

Provisions after a weak opening, improved somewhat, being helped through the whole list by large speculative buying of September lard.

50,000 OFFICES FOR DEMOCRATS

Provided They Can Win in Competitive Examinations. Taft's Fourth-Class Postal Order Amended by Wilson.

Washington, May 7.—All fourth-class postmasterships, except those paying less than $180 a year, were thrown open to competitive examinations by an order issued today by President Wilson. These positions are retained in the classified service, but about 50,000 incumbents who were "covered" into the classified service by executive orders of previous administrations, will have to meet all comers in competitive examinations to hold their positions with civil service protection.

Purpose of Wilson.

In a statement making this order public, Postmaster General Burleson announced that it was the purpose of President Wilson and himself to extend the classified service to include presidential postmasters of the second and third-class, probably within a year. This may require legislation by congress, he said. His plan, which will be laid before the president, would provide for a qualification test for incumbents and applicants "in keeping with the importance of the offices."

Under President Taft's order of October 15, 1912, fourth-class postmasters were divided into two classes, Class "A," those drawing more than $500, and Class "B," those drawing less than $500. Competitive examinations were prescribed for future applications for Class "A" appointments, while the Clas s"B" petitions were to be filed upon recommendations of postoffice inspectors.

Today's order leaves only the offices paying $180 or less to be filled upon inspectors' recommendations.

Rules and regulations to govern the administration of the new order will be worked out and announced by the civil service commission as soon as possible.

Statement by Burleson.

In his statement the postmaster general said:

"I feel that President Taft's order of October 15, last, did not go far enough in that it failed to apply a merit system to the entire service it was aimed to cover. It had the effect of placing within the classified service a large number of postmasters who have not been required to demonstrate their fitness for usch appointments. Fundamentally a reform movement has for its purpose the righting of an existing wrong. Therefore, if the application of the merit system to the postal service was needed in order to correct an existing evil, then the scope of the order affecting the change could have been broad enough to have corrected as far as possible the condition then existing as a result of the former system as well as to accomplish the desired results in the future.

"Political considerations have in the past very largely controlled the selection of fourth-class postmasters, and under this order democrats must be held responsible for the wise and safe administration of these offices.

Taft Order Criticised.

"Under the circumstances the Taft order violated at least the fundamental purpose of the civil service law because it placed permanently in office without examination or other test as to merit or efficiency a great horde of persons. If left in this condition and permitted to operate without proper examination into its workings, the order would make honest civil service a farce and prove a setback to its proper administration and future progress. My effort is to correct the evil and save the merit of the order and duly safeguard civil service and efficiency."

ARCHES ARE PROPOSED IN MEMORY OF PEACE

New York, May 7.—Memorial arches at the points were the proposed international highways will cross the border between the United States and Canada, a memorial bridge across the Niagara river and historical monuments on both sides of the boundary, were among the plans formulated today by the Canadian and American deelgates to the conference to arrange for the celebration by English-speaking people of the centenary of peace in 1915.

The Canadian and American delegates

The Canadian and American delegates governments erect the arches where the proposed international highways—the Quebec and Miami in the aest and Los Angeles and Vancouver in the west—cross the boundary. A plan to erect monuments at historical points upon each side of the boundary may include water gates on opposite sides of the Detroit river near the city of Detroit. It was felt that the suggestion to erect a memorial bridge over the Niagara river required the advice of engineers and definite action on this proposal was postponed until tomorrow, when it will be discussed by the entire conference.

These monuments, the two memorial arches and the Niagara river bridge, it was suggested, should be made the central figures for the celebration when cornerstones for them, or if they should be finished in time, dedication services should be held which would enable large numbers of the citizens of the two countries to take part. The entire delegations will pass on these suggestions tomorrow.

This afternoon the delegates were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie at a garden party and tomorrow they will be entertained at luncheon by Colonel Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill.

CHILD WELFARE TOPICS AT PLAYGROUND MEET

Richmond, Va., May 7.—A variety of topics bearing on child welfare were discussed at the seventh annual convention of the National Playground Congress at its sessions here today. Mrs. August Belmont, president of the Educational Dramatic League of New York, delivered an address on "Dramatic play as a form of community recreation." The success of the playground movement in many American cities was explained.

The comet was visible in a small telescope and was moving northeast.

U. S. MAIL BOAT SINKS IT ST. JOHNS RIVER

Jacksonville, Fla., May 7.—The United States mail boat Laporte, a gasoline launch which carries mail to the St. Johns river towns, sank while off Arlington last night. The boat was overloaded with mails and parcels post matter besides some cargo and went down in 19 feet of water, 200 feet off shore. Five persons aboard were rescued in a dinghey. A sack for Fulton, Fla., has not yet been recovered.

O'HARA IS ACCUSED BY CHICAGO WOMAN

Springfield, Ill., May 7.—Deputy Sheriff R. M. Sullivan today laid before the senate the affidavit of a Chicago woman, said to reflect on a member of the Illinois vice commission. Lieutenant Governor O'Hara, chairman of the commission, expressed the hope that the senate committee named to conduct an investigation, would go to the bottom of the matter. The affidavit will not be made public until the commission has held a hearing.

Dr. Charles H. Mead Dead.

Asbury Park, N. J., May 7.—Charles Henry Mead, D. D., a widely known temperance lecturer, died today at his home in Ocean Grove, aged 72 years. He was editor of The National Advocate in New York.

Why Is a Vice President?

(From The Philadelphia Telegraph.)

Years ago, before President Wilson was politically foot loose, he wrote this description of the vice presidency of these United States:

It would doubtless be considered quite improper to omit from an essay on the senate all mention of the senate's president; and yet there is very little to be said about the vice president of the United States. His position is one of anomalous insignificance and curious uncertainty. Apparently he is not, strictly speaking, a part of the legislature—he is clearly not a member—yet neither is he an officer of the executive.

It is one of the remarkable things about him that it is hard to find in sketching the government any proper place to discuss him. He comes in most naturally along with the senate, to which he is attached; but he does not come in there for any great consideration. He is simply a judicial officer set to moderate the proceedings of an assembly whose rules he has no voice in framing and can have no vote in changing.

His official stature is not to be compared with that of the speaker of the house of representatives. So long as he is vice president, he is inseparable from the senate; his importance consists in the fact that he may cease to be vice president.

His chief dignity, next to presiding over the senate, lies in the circumstances that he is awaiting the death or disability of the president. And the chief embarrassment in discussing his office is that in explaining how little there is to be said about it one has evidently said all there is to say.

Little Dorrit Is Dead.

(From The Philadelphia Ledger.)

Mary Ann Cooper, the original of Little Dorrit in Dickens' famous story, has passed away at the age of 100. The novelist and she were playmates together in their childhood at Somerstown.

When "Little Dorrit" was issued serially in 1855 to 1857 the readers eagerly awaited the appearance of each installment, and the description of William Dorrit's protracted captivity in the Marshalsea prison, through the indignation it evoked, had an effect that was far-reaching in bringing about prison reform. But it must have been beyond the wildest dream of Dickens' little playmate that the boy who skated, rolled a hoop or entered with zest into a game of blind man's buff would one day confer upon her a literary immortality comparable with that which has been the portion of Dante's Beatrice or Petrarch's Laura or Burns' Jean. The poet speaks proudly of his verse that "immortalizes whom it sings," and this woman, otherwise unknown to fame, has inherited imperishable renown in the person of her literary counterpart.

How easy it would have been for Mary Ann Cooper to remain forever among "the forgotten millions." What was she among so many in the same street, village, parish or kingdom? Yet by proxy she is known around the world, wherever an English book is read and the tongue of Milton and Shakespeare is spoken. She takes her place forever among a gallery of types who are more real than living people. Her fame shall not fall, nor her glory fade as long as David Copperfield and Little Nell, Pickwick and Sairey Gamp and Nicholas Nickleby shall live. A renown not of her seeking shall keep the memory green of the little girl who was the playmate of Charles Dickens.

Takes Experience to Judge.

I suppose it will be easily granted that no man can judge whether any animal be beautiful in its kind, or deformed, who has seen only one of that species.

REVISION MEASURE GOES THRO' HOUSE

the measure came on the administrative clause allowing a 5 per cent discount on the duty on all goods brought into the United States in American ships. Republicans attacked this provision vigorously, declaring that it was "political buncombe," and that if it had any meaning, it meant an advantage to foreign vessels and foreign shipping combines. After an hour of vigorous debate an attempt to strike out the provision was defeated by a rolling chorus of democratic "noes."

Tariff Board Amendment.

Representative Mann reintroduced his tariff board amendment as a rider to the "dumping" clause which would assess a penalty not to exceed 15 per cent ad valorem on imports sold in this country at a lower price than abroad. Representative Mann proposed that the secretary of the treasury in arriving at a fair market value for such goods be assisted by a tariff commission appointed by the president. This amendment was voted down after a debate of 30 minutes. An amendment by Representative Fordney to include articles on the free list in the "dumping" clause, also met defeat.

The real parliamentary battle took place after the completion of the reading of the bill for amendment, when Representative Payne took the floor and presented for the republicans a lengthy motion which would have carried the bill back to the ways and means committee with instructions to alter various provisions. It contained the republican bill for a tariff commission, the republican substitute for the wool schedule, with a duty based on 18 cents a pound on raw wool, orders to prepare a cotton schedule according to the report of the tariff board, orders to change all rates on the basis of the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad and to substitute specific duties for ad valorem rates wherever possible.

Leaders Close Debate.

Amid a chorus of cheers and thunderous applause from floor and galleries the leaders on both sides closed debate on the bill. Representative Mann told the democrats that they must accept a tariff commission now, "or we will jam it down your throat in the next congress."

"Your bill has now been before the country for two months," he said, "and already has been universally condemned. Business is more or less stagnated in the fear that your rates will injure industry. I hope that fear will disappear. But you are trying to continue prosperity by threatening prosperity, and if you succeed you will have accomplished the impossible. We turn over a prosperous country, where the people are happy, where there is work for all to do. Take it and see whether you can do as well as we have, for the country will judge you not by what you say here, but by the future."

As the republicans applauded Representative Payne, of New York, arose.

"I have heard mighty little criticism of the present law," he said. "There has been some denunciation, not much, from gentlemen who appear on this floor for the first time and most of them for the last time. All of them say they don't like some of the provisions of this bill.

Shaking a finger at the democratic side of the chamber, Mr. Payne advanced across the well of the house and shouted: "If those of you who are voting for this bill and holding your noses because you don't like the odor of it were to vote according to your convictions, there would not be enough votes to insure its final passage."

Speaker Clark Recognizes.

Mr. Payne sat down and the chairman recognized Speaker Clark. There was a roar of applause from the democratic side as the speaker strode down the center aisle. Democrats and republicans alike arose out of respect to the speaker, and stood until the applause subsided.

"In the language of the old hymn," said the speaker, "this is the way I long have sought."

He got no further. Applause that swept the floor and galleries left him silent in the midst of pandemonium. After some time the noise subsided and he continued:

"A few of us have been fighting for twenty years to accomplish what we are going to do in a few minutes. We have faced a majority of 124 on the other side of the aisle. You now face a majority of 191."

The speaker congratulated Representative Underwood and the democrats of the ways and means committee for their work in the preparation of the bill, and congratulated both sides of the house for the "courteous, kindness and good feeling" that marked this consideration.

"It seems our manners as well as our politics are improving in this house," he said. "No tariff bill was ever so thoroughly considered in the house. Two weeks in the democratic caucus, and they can say what they please about caucus, brought about unanimity in the house.

Can't Kick or Squeal.

"We brought on no rule to limit debate or amendment. You can't kick of squeal that you did not have an opportunity to offer your ideas as to what should be in the bill. The unanimity in the house was not brought about by the lash of the taskmaster. You republicans say that the last time we passed the tariff bill we split up. This time we will pass the tariff bill and stick together.

This bill is the consequence of the opinions of 218 men in the house, forty-nine in the senate and one man in the white house. We've got a bill on which we can go to the country and the country will rise up and call us blessed. We want a wider market for our surplus products, and that's what this bill is going to give us."

How to Fight the House Fly.

Pyrethrum powder burnt in a house stupefies a fly until you can sweep him up and put him where he belongs. A little of this burnt in the rooms in the morning—after which the rooms should be aired—will make the house exempt from flies all day. Twenty drops of carbolic acid dropped on a hot shovel or on any piece of warm iron creates a vapor that lays flies low. The common mignonette plant grown in jars and placed in a room makes things unpleasant for flies. A handy thing is the white clover. It is strange, but flies hate the odor of white clover. Have a little of this around in a vase and you will notice that the flies have business in the other direction. This clover should be renewed every day or so, for when it becomes dry it irritates the nostrils. A cheap and effective poison, not dangerous to human life, is bichromate of potash in solution. One drachm dissolved in two ounces of sweetened water and placed in shallow dishes will call the long roll of any number of the pests. Another remedy that for all purposes has few equals is a solution of formalin, or formaldehyde in water. A spoonful of this liquid in a quarter of a pint of water left exposed in a room will make the flies scarce in a very short time. Flies are sensitive to light; keep the window curtains drawn, all except one little slit, and they will gravitate toward it. Then you can easily drive them outside.
